Other Ship Asks Doctors' Advice

Three ocean-going vessels were reported in distress to-day as investigations of the numerous mishaps at sea during the last week continued—the Ss. Solafrie in the South Seas, the Tensan Maru in Asiatic water and the British freighter Bradburn, which wireless Wednesday she had a fire in her hold and was heading back to Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, but which remained silent to-day.

A. D. Ganong, M.P. of St. Stephen, New Brunswick, directing head of one of the few remaining old family businesses in Canada, is at the Empress Hotel to-day. He is president of Ganong Brothers Ltd., manufacturers of Ganong's chocolates with candy plants at St. Stephen and St. John, N.B.

Tense Moment As Police Battle Textile Strikers

An exciting moment in the pitched battle between police and strike pickets at Macon, Georgia, is portrayed in this dramatic picture. Combatants are shown scattering and ducking before the gunfire of police who were guarding strikebreakers en route to a textile mill. The fight started when pickets overturned the strikebreakers' car (shown in background) after it had failed to halt at the picket line. Violent scenes of a similar kind were seen in Rhode Island yesterday and to-day.

COVERED WAGON LEADS STOCK PARADE AT EXHIBITION

Here is a picture of the covered wagon, owned by Hon. S. F. Talmie, which was driven at the head of the stock parade by Donald Hardy yesterday afternoon. A relic of the long ago, the wagon was loaded with settlers' equipment, even to a pair of kittens. Back in 1883 Mr. Hardy drove an ox team something like this for 275 miles west of Winnipeg.

Three Ocean Ships In Distress, State Radio Messages

OFF COAST OF CHINA

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—An SOS from the Japanese steamer Tennen Maru, in distress off the Oriental coast, was picked up by Pacific Coast Mackay Radio stations early today.

Interference from ships in coastal waters prevented stations from receiving her exact position, but radio operators said they were confident she was off the coast of Asia, proceeding to Hongkong. No details were obtained.

The Tennen Maru, owned by the Kinkai Yusen K.K., lies in the Oriental coastal trade. She is a steel ship of 3,125 gross tons.

DOCTORS' ADVICE ASKED

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—A broken arm sent wireless stations in Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf of Mexico ports on a merry-go-round chase for a sinking ship early today.

The supposedly distressed ship was the freighter Hawaiian, bound from New York to Los Angeles. And the "distress call" was request for a doctor's advice on how to treat a broken arm.

When a Lifeboat Was Finally Dispatched to the Morro Castle, he continued, its crew made no efforts to board the sinking ship.

Several persons were visible on the Morro Castle at the time, Curtis declared. When a lifeboat was finally dispatched to the Morro Castle, he continued, its crew made no efforts to board the sinking ship.

QUESTIONS SUGGESTED

Havana, Sept. 13.—A high government official said he believed he could "mention the names of several well-known radicals in Cuba who, if given the 'third degree,' could tell us something about the Morro Castle disaster."

One of the members of the crew, this official said, "is a very dangerous character, and is known to have made threats against American business concerns, especially steamship lines."

SAW PEOPLE ON SHIP

Henderson said he thought there was "too much" delay in getting the lifeboats away from the President Cleveland. He said that when the President Cleveland came in he could see persons hanging from the stern of the burning steamer and the crew on the foredeck.

He quoted another officer as saying, "We've got to do something." Asked if he had done anything, Henderson said he had stood by for orders.

DO NOT JUMP

New York, Sept. 13.—William Francis Price, Brooklyn policeman who was a passenger on the liner Morro Castle, testified today he pointed a gun at a man, apparently a crew member, who was about to leap from the burning ship into a lifeboat and shouted:

"You're a dead man if you jump!"

NO OFFER MADE

A seaman on the liner President Cleveland who was in a lifeboat sent to the aid of the burning Morro Castle today testified that, although he saw several persons on a deck of the stricken ship, the lifeboat crew made no offer to take them off.

Testifying before the Department of Commerce board investigating the disaster, the seaman said he saw several persons on a deck of the stricken ship, the lifeboat crew made no offer to take them off.

be serviced, but essential public services must be maintained.

"That it is necessary for the government to take action is beyond doubt, and those municipalities which have not been able to take care of themselves will have their affairs placed in order through the instrumentality of the government, and where necessary, by act of the Legislature. Ample opportunity will be afforded to interested persons in respect of the legislation which it may be thought desirable to pass.

DOMINION MAY HELP

We have been pressing for the refunding of the major portion of the debt incurred by the municipalities, and we are anxious to see the Dominion government take action in this direction as soon as possible.

Mr. Pattullo reviewed the efforts of his government to restore prosperity to primary industries and products. He said the government was co-operating with the lumber industry in developing water-borne markets. Assistance had been given to scores of owners of small mining properties in helping them make trials, and we propose to go further in this direction as finances will permit.

COULD PROVIDE PURCHASING

"Our banks are sound and we could at once put purchasing power into the hands of the public by direct means."

Dealing with various financial matters, the Premier referred to the total of $10,000,000 which the government had required early in its career, largely to take care of unavoidable commitments. These purposes now required $1,000,000 less by reason of the province's improved financial position.

FAITH IN PROVINCE

Other government policies to which the Premier made reference were: the educational finance survey, state health insurance investigation, survey of the taxation structure, with special consideration to municipalities.

In conclusion, he said: "I have unbounded faith in the future of British Columbia. I know of no place more blessed by nature than this province. Possessed of a wide variety of natural resources, we have as a consequence a diversity of industrial endeavor. With adjustment in our social, industrial and financial economy, which are in process, we will, I feel sure, attain a prosperity, contentment and happiness surpassing anything that has heretofore been our lot."

SNOW IN ALBERTA

Calgary, Sept. 13.—First warning of winter came to southern Alberta today, two days after the northern sections had their first snow of the season. With the exception of the extreme southern sections, snow was general during the night, and light frosts continued this morning.

WORKS PRINCIPLE ADOPTED

The Premier reviewed the conference his government had held in effort to have its policies for recovery adopted. In regard to his advocacy of a large public works programme financed on the national credit, he said:

"The Dominion Government has since publicly announced a public works programme approximately $40,000,000 to be financed by the issue of currency. The principal which I have advocated, therefore, has been recognized by the Dominion Government and is being applied to Dominion public works."

"From Mr. Pattullo's attitude was satisfactory as far as it went, but he referred us to Mr. Gray, and Mr. Gray's statement on Wednesday went even further than his original statement some days ago," said Mr. Fraser.

THEIR WAY OUT

"He now tells the city of Vancouver and other municipalities that, if they are in financial difficulties, that is their way out. Bond dealers are forced to the conclusion that it is the policy of the government to refuse financial aid or grants to the municipalities, thus relieving the provincial treasury at the expense of holders of municipal securities."

Meanwhile, Mr. Fraser said the bond dealers and bondholders in the province were willing to co-operate with the municipalities and the government where there was reasonable ground for co-operation.

HE REITERATED FORMER STATEMENTS that the situation had a disturbing effect on the market for municipal bonds.

"Our foreign markets are very much disturbed. We have had many inquiries from both London and New York," he said. "The reaction is going to be disastrous from the standpoint of the credit of the municipalities in the matter of future issues."

Already received yesterday was testimony the Du Pont firm, which manufactured 40 per cent of all the powder used in guns of the Allies during the Great War, owns 25 per cent of the common stock of the General Motors Corporation.

Attention also was given personal finances of the four leading members of the firm: Lamont de Fontenay, president; Pierre, chairman of the board; Truette, vice-president; and Felix, cousin of these three brothers, who also is a vice-president.

THE COMMITTEE HAD CALLED ON THEM TO FURNISH TO-DAY THE AMOUNT OF BONUSES THEY DREW FROM THE FIRM IN 1916, 1917, 1918 AND 1919.

During the four years 1916-1919 inclusive the corporation paid its common and debenture stockholders an average yearly dividend of 49 per cent, although the regular dividend was only 6 per cent, it was testified.

WAR BUSINESS

Yesterday the corporation, a Delaware company, was shown to have made a war order business totaling $1,245,000,000 between 1914 and 1919.

The testimony brought out that Du Pont was the first United States company to receive Great War orders. In the first year of the war the company received $265,000,000 worth of war orders from Europe. In all of 1915 were totaled $325,000,000. During the year before the war the company's business amounted to only $38,000,000.

THE END OF THE WAR BROUGHT A CANCELLATION OF $225,000,000 IN CONTRACTS HELD BY THE DU PONT COMPANY.

Four-day Work Week Rejected

International Typographical Union Declines to Allow Locals to Decide

Associated Press
Chicago, Sept. 13.—The International Typographical Union in convention yesterday defeated a proposal to allow local unions to adopt a four-day week.

The proposition, submitted by New York local No. 6, advocated the four-day week for any local so voting by referendum. The present union week is five days.

President Charles P. Howard, speaking against the proposal, said: "If you extend to local unions the authority to advance such a plan you are courting revolution. There is a difference between federal and local laws of that nature.

"If the law is federal you have police power in congress. What are you going to do in a local situation if some members rebel? You will lose officers and men if the local union is allowed to do this thing."

Under consideration by the committee on organization at the time of the debate, but not yet reported to the convention, was a proposal for a national six-hour day and thirty-hour week for the printing trade.

In view of the convention was a placard purportedly printed by twenty-four working members of the New York local. It read in part: "A warning. To I.T.U. delegates—Be on your guard against any attempt to inaugurate a four-day week. Unlimited assessments and a four-day week spell local autonomy in the terms of Communism."

SOLDIERS—THEN AND NOW

Written specially for The Victoria Daily Times
By DR. THEODORE GOODRIDGE ROBERTS

NO. 4
Canadians led the world in the grim art and science of trench raiding. The first elaborately rehearsed raid was put on by units of the 2nd Canadian Infantry Brigade in November, 1915. Then all Canadians went in for it; and officers and non-coms who had taken part in it were borrowed by English and Scottish divisions to show them the fine points of the game.

Brigadier-General Lipsett decided that conditions were right for a raid in force. He selected the objectives. Then selected parties were sent back to the reserve area to rehearse the raid over taped ground. The objective trenches and all intervening obstacles were marked on the ground with white tapes, all distances and dimensions being laid down accurately. Every man was given his task, trained to it and timed to it. They went over the taped ground by day, then again and again by night, until they could do it with their eyes shut. Then they returned to the line, all ready to go.

THEY TOOK THEIR TELEPHONE
The night was wet, chilly, cloudy. There was to be a cut in front of the 7th Battalion's objective. Col. Victor Odum, commanding the 7th, sent his wire-cutters into the enemy wire before 9 o'clock. The party, under Lieut. W. D. Holmes, consisted of Sergeants Merton and Ashby, and Corporals Babcock and Odum. Was Corporal Odum the colonel's brother or cousin? They worked at the wire until midnight, lying flat on their backs in very thick mud; and huts were carried out and served to them several times in those three hours. (Victor Odum always had more faith in cocoa than in rum, though he never insisted upon his guests drinking cocoa.)

Two lanes, converging on the point of attack, were cut completely through the wire of the unsuspecting Fritzies. The wire-cutters went home, only to go out again with three bridges, with which they spanned the Douve at three points. One of these bridges was placed with fifteen yards of the German parapet by Sergeant Ashby and Corporal Weir.

The attack was made at 2.30 a.m. by parties of the 5th and 7th Battalions. The men of the 5th were snubbed to a standstill by a flooded twelve-foot ditch directly under the hostile parapet. It was six feet deep and filled with submerged coils of barbed wire. Five of the party attempted the passage of this ditch, only to learn that it could not be done either by swimming or wading. Unable to reach the trench, the foiled raiders hounded it with all they had, then went home.

The 7th Battalion party, under Costigan and McIlree, now a lawyer in Victoria, enjoyed better fortune. They crossed their bridges and entered the German trench sharp on time, carrying a telephone with which they immediately opened communications with Col. Odum at the gap in their own parapet. Every invading bayonetman had a small electric light at the muzzle of his rifle, under the bayonet, attached in such a way that he could flash it without shifting the grip of his hands. In addition to the bayonetmen and telephone party there were grenadiers, grenade-carriers, riflemen, shovelmen and stretcher-bearers. After twenty minutes in the demoralized German trench, all the raiders went home, taking a dozen prisoners with them. They left nothing behind them except death and destruction—not even the telephone.

That was the first, and one of the best, of the big scientific raids.

TOLL BRIDGE PLAN OPPOSED

Reeve MacDonald of Coquitlam Voices Views on Fraser Proposal

New Westminster, Sept. 13.—Construction of a high level toll bridge across the Fraser River at New Westminster will be the direct expense of the farmers of the Fraser Valley in the opinion of Reeve R. C. MacDonald of Coquitlam, chairman of the Fraser Valley Reeve's Association, who says he will oppose any toll structure, either privately owned or government controlled.

A meeting of the Reeve's Association will be called probably within the next few days to consider the latest announcement of the government.

Clearing away misunderstandings which had arisen from the original announcement the bridge would be built, Premier Pattullo yesterday stated the British Columbia Government would build, own and finance the new bridge. Because the Fraser River Bridge Company had a charter granted by the legislature in 1927, and because it had spent a great deal of time and money on the project, the Premier said that company would get the contract.

Reeve MacDonald holds such a bridge on the main highway should be a free structure. He expressed strong opposition to the giving of an exclusive contract to any one concern to build the bridge without competitive bids. He said there was too great an opportunity for graft or excessive construction costs.

stated, although he was not so confident about Ontario.

As in the case of British Columbia, the basic industries of New Brunswick are lumbering and fisheries.

Both these industries are showing up well in his province, he stated. The spruce industry of the eastern provinces is largely shipped to the United Kingdom, although the United States also offered a market.

Talking politics this morning, Mr. Gagnon expressed the view that a general election would not be called until next year.

Now Suggested Stevens Resign

Hon. F. Rinfret, M.P., Says
Minister Should Avoid Being Silenced

Canadian Press
Montreal, Sept. 13.—To avoid being "silenced" by the Premier, and "obviously told to keep quiet about abuse in business practices in the Dominion," Hon. F. Rinfret, Minister of Trade and Commerce, should resign, Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Liberal member of Parliament for St. James, Montreal, former Secretary of State and ex-mayor of Montreal, told members of a local service club yesterday evening.

Mr. Rinfret was referring to the recent privately-printed pamphlet in which Mr. Stevens, referred to conditions revealed before the House of Commons committee investigating mass buying and sweat shop conditions.

He thought that since the suppression of what he called the "New Testament" the Minister of Trade and Commerce had been "keeping extraordinarily silent in regard to discoveries made during the parliamentary investigation," and wondered what was the use of an investigation of this kind if officialdom was to be "kagged."

Polish Ultimatum on Protection of Minorities Presented to League

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Geneva, Sept. 13.—The League of Nations Assembly received an ultimatum today from Joseph Beck, Polish Foreign Minister. M. Beck attacked the present League system for the protection of minorities as inequitable and based on political paradoxes.

"Pending the bringing into force of a general uniform system for the protection of minorities," M. Beck curtly proceeded, "my government finds itself compelled as from today to refuse to collaborate with international organizations in the supervision of the application by Poland of the system of minority protection."

He outlined Polish efforts to secure a generalized system of international guarantees, but nothing had been achieved, he said. Poland had urged generalization of the protection of minority rights—should be placed on the agenda of the present assembly—with these recommendations: Immediate recognition of the necessity for a general convention on protection of minorities and convening to that end of an international conference.

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Geneva, Sept. 13.—Poland's dramatic ultimatum to the League of Nations Assembly today—that from now on she will not be bound by any international rules in treatment of her minorities—will be met with a swift challenge.

The assembly, adjourned after Joseph Beck, Polish Foreign Minister, made his statement, but some pointed questions will be put when general debate is resumed.

Members of other delegations want to know what lies behind the Polish declaration, and what she intends to do with her minority groups.

DOLLAR GAINS ON EXCHANGE

Canadian Press
New York, Sept. 13.—The Canadian dollar and the pound sterling advanced on the foreign exchange market here today. The Dominion dollar extended its premium from 3 to 1 1/16 per cent. The pound closed at $4.60 1/2, up 1/16. The French franc closed at 6.67 1/2 cents, off .001 cent.

Exchange rates in Montreal at 2 p.m. E.S.T. today were:
Pound sterling, $4.56.
U.S. dollar, 97 1/16.
French franc, 6.47 1/2.

RISE IN GOLD PRICE PREDICTED

Calgary, Sept. 13.—Prediction that within three months the world price of gold would be $41 an ounce was made here by Arthur S. Slaght, K.C. of Toronto.

Mr. Slaght reached Calgary yesterday evening, returning from the Pacific Coast, where he visited various mining centres.

TWO CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

Edmonton, Sept. 13.—Ledgard, four, and Leo, ten months, children of Albert Baumgart, were burned to death as fire swept the Baumgart home at 9 a.m. today.

Gustav Luther, who lives in the Baumgart home, suffered a severe gash on one hand as he broke a window preparatory to a daring dash into the blazing building in a futile effort to save the children.

Mrs. Baumgart was working at the rear of the house when she noticed smoke coming from a window. She attempted to enter the blazing building, screaming as she did so. A neighbor, Betty Stayer, thirteen, rushed to the scene and held the frantic mother until help arrived.

In the meantime, Luther had succeeded in reaching the younger child and carried his body to the open air. His attempt to reach the second child failed when he was driven back by the flames.

Firemen reached the scene a little later, and after one unsuccessful attempt, reached the second boy. Rushed to hospital, he died a few minutes later.

CREDIT PLAN VOTE

Sydney, Australia, Sept. 13.—"There is no justification for production unless it is made available to the consumer, and to do this there must be an addition to the total volume of financial credit or money that the community has," declared H. V. Bondeson, leader of the Australian Douglas party, in a speech to-day wounding up the party's campaign in the Australian general election.

Australia will go to the polls on Saturday in the triennial election, with the United Australian party government of Prime Minister Joseph Lyons and the Labor opposition of former Premier Henry Scullin both being fought by a strong force of candidates pledged to the social credit scheme advocated for many years by Major C. H. Douglas.

RECIPROCITY

REALIZING THAT RECIPROCITY BETWEEN Canada and the United States has ceased to be a party issue, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, now in convention at Winnipeg, will urge the Dominion government to take the matter up with Washington in an effort to bring about a new economic understanding between the two countries.

In recent years Liberals and Conservatives have been fairly well in agreement on the subject of Canadian-United States trade. The business flow across the border north and south was worth $1,362,000,000 four years ago; it is now worth only $472,000,000, while the whole of Canada's external business for the twelve months ending last June was less by $266,000,000 than the value of Canadian-United States trade in 1930.

The Dominion government has sent out several feelers to Washington with no result, and it will be recalled that the United States government recently announced that Canada was not on its preferred list of countries as far as reciprocity was concerned. This announcement was interpreted at Ottawa as showing that Washington considered possibilities of a treaty were so remote that it was wasted time to continue negotiations.

It is obvious that the United States at the present time is primarily interested in negotiating treaties with countries with which it has an unfavorable trade balance. The treaty recently signed with Cuba is expected to be followed by similar agreements with other Central and South American countries.

The trade relationship of Canada and the United States, of course, has suffered severely during the last four years as a result of the tariff walls which have been established in both countries. But there are hundreds of business leaders in the United States who will heartily second the motion of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. In 1929, for example, Canada bought $869,000,000 worth of goods from the neighboring republic, which has enjoyed a substantial favorable balance every year, with three or four exceptions, right from the time of Confederation. The United States as well as Canada needs every dollar's worth of business it can get.

It is perhaps too much to expect that the authorities at Washington will make any move until after the November elections. It is to be hoped, however, that the Dominion government will take the advice of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and endeavor to reopen negotiations as early as possible.

Incidentally, it is interesting to reflect that many of the interests which are now urging reciprocity with the United States bitterly opposed it when it was proposed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1911. They have since seen a great white light.

END OF A REVOLUTIONIST

BLIND, NEARLY DEAF WOMAN OF ninety-odd has died in a Czechoslovakian village near Prague, and the ghost of the last czar might be pardoned if it found something grimly amusing in the circumstances.

This woman was Katharina Breschko-Breschkowskaya; and since that name is pretty long and unpronounceable, it is simpler to refer to her by the title she used to wear so proudly—"grandmother of the Russian revolution."

She was already an old woman when the last Romanoff was shot to death in a cellar at Ekaterinburg; and before that time she had spent no less than fifty years of her life in one or another of the czar's prisons for revolutionary activities.

She had been one of that devoted band of Russian dreamers who hated autocracy and oppression and risked the worst that the czar could do to bring them to an end. These dreamers finally had their way. The czar's government fell, the Siberian prisons were emptied, and the great era of democracy and freedom seemed at last ready to dawn across Russia. And then the revolution ran out from under its little grandmother.

Instead of freedom and democracy, Russia got Communism. The czar was dead, and his nobles were either dead or in exile; but there was no place in the new order for those who had given their lives to the fight against czarism, unless they happened to believe in the particular kind of revolution that Russia's new rulers were handing out.

So this aging veteran of the czar's prisons had to flee from Russia, just like any pure-proud nobleman. She went to foreign lands, remarking that she had waited half a century for the downfall of the czars and was willing to wait equally long, if need be, for the downfall of the Bolsheviks.

And when she came to her death-bed at last one of the friends who hastened to her side was Alexander Kerensky—another revolutionary who found the revolution running out from under him, and who dares not return to Russia.

So the czar's ghost must have smiled a grim little smile. A revolution is such an incalculable thing. Starting one is like losing some great, uncontrollable force of nature. The solid land itself seems to break up—and the one who started it all is no safer than anyone else.

THE AUSTRALIAN ELECTIONS

ONE OF THE INTERESTING FEATURES OF the Australian general elections which will take place next Saturday is the number of candidates who are running under the Douglas Social Credit banner. Major Douglas, it will be recalled, visited Victoria and expounded his plan for putting the world back on its economic feet.

This new movement in the southern Dominion obviously has caught on with a vengeance. Nine "Douglas" candidates have been nominated for the Senate and no fewer than thirty-seven for the House of Representatives. The Senate, by the way, has a membership of thirty-six and the lower house seventy-five. Senators are elected for six years—one half of the total membership being elected every three years. Representatives, or ordinary members of Parliament under our system, are elected for three years only.

Although the "Douglas" candidates can not win a majority of the seats in the lower house, it will be interesting to note by their showing just what public concern has been manifested in the credit plan which Major Douglas has given to the empire and other countries.

Every great reform quite naturally brings out formidable opposition. The United Australia party, or national government (Conservative) party has not been won over by the Social Credit group, while the Labor opposition will paddle its own political canoe. Another group is the Country party which has permitted the government to retain office by giving it its support. Then there are the disciples of Moscow to back up the Left wing of the Labor party.

State Socialism in Australia, however, does not seem to have made very much progress. Saturday's elections none the less may provide an interesting commentary on monetary reform as the "Douglas" candidates win or lose.

FALLACIES ABOUT THE C.N.R.

THERE APPEARS TO BE STILL CONSIDERABLE misapprehension relative to the country's indebtedness on account of the Canadian National Railways. Critics of the national system roll the aggregate figures around without regard to the fact, which ought to be generally known, that approximately a third of the total could be written off without affecting the Dominion's balance sheet. This includes liabilities contracted away back before Confederation, which were either incorporated in the national debt and wiped off long before the Canadian National Railways were dreamed of, or were paid off out of current revenue. It includes also the par value of the stock in the old Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk systems which a royal commission declared was worthless, and which is still charged against the national system. Presumably the reason this sum, which amounts to nearly a billion dollars, has not been expunged from the Canadian National balance sheet is that such a course might encourage a public demand for a reduction of railroad rates or the construction of more branch lines.

Another fallacious conception is reflected in the glib proposals arising from time to time about the abandonment of unprofitable lines. As a matter of fact, the railroads have been discredited that there are very few, if any, lines which can be abandoned without causing confusion worse confounded. Along all of these lines settlements and towns have grown up. Public services have been established, and contractual liabilities assumed. Money has been invested in various enterprises and utilities in good faith. The suggestion that all of these considerations and responsibilities can be lightly ignored reflects a queer conception of the public temper. Who would reimburse those communities and interests, for they would have to be reimbursed?

A COLOSSAL WASTE

ACCORDING TO THE LEAGUE OF Nations "Armaments Year Book," the world spent on armaments in 1933 between $3,471,000,000 gold and $4,399,000,000 gold. The book estimated the total expenditure in 1931 at $3,945,000,000 gold, but explained the drop to the 1933 amount by the depreciation in the exchange values of national currencies.

In the first world-wide effort to end war by denying its implements to belligerents eighteen nations have joined. Italy was the latest of the principal arms-exporting nations to notify the League it had put an embargo on exports of munitions to Bolivia and Paraguay. The two South American nations which have been fighting for more than two years for possession of the rich Gran Chaco territory have been cut off from United States munitions and airplane factories, the Cuesnot works of France, the Skoda works of Czechoslovakia, the Bofors of Sweden—all of the big plants whose products make war possible.

For all the good work the League of Nations has done, and in spite of the thirty-month talk fest at the Disarmament Conference, the world continues to spend a great deal more on armaments than it did before the war which was supposed to be the war to end war was fought. This is a striking commentary on so-called human progress.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

LUNATICS AT LARGE

The Calgary Herald

Recent complaints of ranchers in the foothills country, adjacent to Calgary, and particularly along the upper reaches of the Elbow, on the carelessness of picnic parties and campers in leaving their fires unquenched, and in tossing matches and cigarettes into the underbrush, thus causing a grave hazard to property and stock owing to the intensely dry condition of the country, should be taken to heart by all who love the wide open spaces. The thoughtless action of one person may mean the devastation of much beautiful scenery, the loss of life and property, and the alienation of the goodwill of those owners who have permitted the public to have access to their land.

LEAVE THE FARMERS ALONE

The Sherbrooke Record

Discussing the Marketing Bill and deleting some of the expressive words which sound artistic but do not print as well, Miss Dean, the Lennoxville farmer, whose 250 acres adorn the valley of the Salmon, said: "I am not interested in the Marketing Bill. The more the government interferes with the farmers' business the worse off are the farmers. To my mind it is like calling on a Sherbrooke lawyer to fix my milkhouse ice plant. Just leave the farmer alone and he will work out his own salvation. Our lawyer-legislators have been making farm laws for forty years, all as effective as trying to feed our herds on a diet of straw and sawdust."

By H. B. W.

THE PONIES

THE SPECTACLE of Victoria crowded to the races this week should be interesting to the student of this era. He will find it difficult to explain, for instance, how it is that in times when everybody claims the doubtful distinction of being broke, when governments are cutting down the dole and merchants can't collect their bills, there is always plenty of money to be invested in the gilded security of the ponies.

This is quite all right, but the unfair thing about it is that these same people who cheerfully lose their money at the pari-mutuel machines, who go short on the necessities of life merely to take a flutter in horse flesh, are the first to blame our governments and our economic system for doing the same thing. Our governments have gambled in the past, gambled on continued good times, and lost. Our economic system gambles entirely on the assumption that things will always improve, and it goes hay-wire when they don't.

That is because they are made up of precisely those units which go to the races in Victoria every day—or fellows like you and I. But when they behave in their larger sphere exactly as we do on our smaller one, we ought to be good enough sports not to complain. So long as a bankrupt generation will spend its last cent gambling, how can it expect its system of society to be any different?

THE SYSTEM

BUT I hadn't started to preach a dull sermon here. I had merely intended to tell you of the infallible system which my friend, Morley, has found out to beat the races. There can be no question about the validity of the system, for Morley won $35 at the races yesterday. Even though he lost it and $5 more at a game of poker in the evening, the system is sound.

It has taken Morley ten years of racing to work out his system, but he says it was worth it. He thinks he can clean up in future, maybe make a couple of hundred dollars every season. And the virtue of his system is proved by the fact, he says, that he always used to lose. I asked him how much he used to lose before he had his system. He says he lost at least $500 a year for ten years.

That, I observed, made $5,000. Yes, at least $5,000, said Morley, and he was exceedingly proud of so handsome a figure. I pointed out that he was still down $4,965 after his winnings of $35 yesterday and if he made $500 a year he would require twenty years to balance accounts. Then he would be nearly eighty years old. That startled Morley pretty badly. He said he would have to work harder in future. He went out to the races to-day and operating on his infallible system, bet $100 on the nose of some gallant steed. I believe the horse came in fifth, or it may have been sixth.

I met Morley to-day and he stopped me for fifteen minutes at the corner of Broad and Fort to tell me that the economic system was tottering and he expected a revolution before Christmas. He was very vicious in his criticism of governments and statesmen. He said he was through with racing for good. But he was working on a new betting system which he might try out before the end of the week.

ANCESTOR

THE LITTLE boy from next door was over here just now and, among other important facts, conveyed the information that his grandfather was a negro. I rather questioned this statement on the external evidence before me, but he said his grandfather had been a "great big, black nigger man." I said that was nice, but still I felt there had been a mistake somewhere. He insisted that he had seen a picture of his grandfather and he was a great big black nigger man. He said he would bring the picture over here to prove it.

After a while he wandered away and I dismissed the matter from my mind, for I had several other things to think about besides his grandfather. But an hour later he came staggering back with a framed picture half as big as he was, which he had evidently purloined secretly from the wall next door. He held it up before me in triumph, and pointed solemnly to the portrait of his grandfather.

"Nigger man, all right," he said. "All black."

Yes, it was all black. It was one of those old-fashioned photographs that used to be popular with grandfathers years ago. No use to argue with the grandson. I agreed that he was right after all and he started home, still clutching the alibi. He turned at the bend in the path and shouted back to me very proudly, "Big, black, nigger-man!"

YOUVE heard, of course, of the fellow somewhere in the middle western states who started to talk one day and couldn't stop—kept talking for days on end until they thought he would die of verbosity, a fate which you sometimes expect to overcome some of our public men but which, somehow, never does. You've heard of this distressing case, but have you heard what the poor fellow talked about all this time? That is the interesting thing about the case. His disease is a matter for medical doctors; but what he talked about is easily understood by laymen. Indeed, it is the most easily understood thing in the current world. For all the time the poor fellow muttered about his job. He was a truck driver and he kept wondering whether, being ill and unable to stop talking, he would ever be able to drive his truck again, whether some other fellow wouldn't have taken his job away from him.

There is something which the ordinary man will understand only too well. That is precisely what we would all talk about if we settled down to a few days' delirium. Heavy over the spirit of this generation is the horror of economic insecurity as it has not been at any other time in history. Our grandfathers might babble in their delirium about God. Our grandsons may babble about wonders of science and civilization which we do not dream of. But just now we babble about our job. That is the ever-present, urgent, terrible necessity in this age of free men, when ex-President Hoover and other eminent gentlemen are trying to preserve our liberty. More accurate than the resolutions of parliaments, more revealing than the research of sociologists, closer to things than the daily newspaper, the babbling of that middle western truck driver was the authentic voice of our time.

TOSSY FELLOW

MR. BEAK happened along just now. He said he had something important to tell me, provided I wouldn't put it in the paper. Knowing by long experience that this wasn't he chartered above all to see it in the paper, I listened attentively.

"You know that tossy fellow who's built the 'ouse up on the 'ill'?" asked Mr. Beak. "The one who won't speak to a fellow of a morning because 'e's got so much money? Well, a funny thing, I was in a barber shop to-day and who should be in the next chair but that tossy fellow from up on the 'ill. I didn't say nothink, of course, because two can play at that 'igh-attin' game, I guess.

"Well, sir, when the barber 'ad finished cutting this tossy fellow's 'air, he started to put some hog-wash on it. But the tossy fellow 'e says, 'Don't put none of that stuff on my 'ead,' he says, 'or my wife will smell it and think I've been in a bootlegger's or what-not,' 'e says. Oh, 'e was tossy.

"So when it come my turn and the barber asks me I says, 'Sure, put lots of it on my 'ead, Jos. My wife, she ain't never been in no bootlegger's or what-not and she don't know what a bootlegger's or what-not smells like,' I says. Of course, I 'ad that story before as a kind of a joke, but the tossy fellow 'e 'adn't. And the barber 'adn't. And did they last at that tossy fellow? After 'e's lived out 'ere a while 'e'll get 'uman. But of course you won't put that in the paper."

Tree in Blossom For Second Time

Special To The Times
Nanaimo, Sept. 13.—An apple tree at the Howe Ranch, Howe's Point, Parkville, is in blossom for the second time this season. The first crop of fruit has already been picked.

DUNCAN

Duncan, Sept. 13.—The annual meeting of the Duncan Parent-Teacher Association was held in the K. of P. Hall on Tuesday evening. The meeting was well attended, with nearly all teachers present. Election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, R. A. Thorpe; vice-president, Mrs. A. Leeming; secretary, R. Lendrum; treasurer, G. D'Arcy; convener of membership committee, Mrs. J. Piper; convener of social committee, Mrs. Evans; convener of study group, Mrs. P. Driver; executive, Mrs. John Dick, Messrs. Parfitt, Blanshard and Hodson.

A long discussion took place on the necessity for a gymnasium in this district, and the P.T.A. were unanimously in favor of sponsoring the idea. Messrs. Thorpe, Blanshard, Hodson, D'Arcy and John Dick were appointed a committee to draw up plans and suggest ways and means at the next meeting.

The women's auxiliary of St. Mary's, Somenos, held their first meeting after the summer vacation on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. A. J. White. Reports from the various committees were received and arrangements were made for the harvest festival decorations.

streets. Stop signs sometimes affect the situation, but even in this case, if a car on cross street stops and starts again in time to get in front of car approaching on main road, the latter is at fault, both in law and in reason. The coroner who was reported last year to have said that if the cyclist had stopped the fatality would not have occurred, could have no sure ground for such statement. When nearing an open crossing, the eyes should be used, when approaching a blind corner, the fact should be ready whichever street one is driving on.

RAILWAY DEBT

To the Editor:—I read with some amusement and a little sadness a letter in your issue of 7th inst. signed "W. J. McL." referring to Mr. Beatty's recent speech in Vancouver. I would advise Mr. McL.—who shows abysmal ignorance of the history of the C.P.R. and the present appalling government railway debt in Canada—to obtain accurate information about these matters. It is, of course, doubtful if a man of Mr. McL.'s mentality and prejudices would understand such things, even if he takes the trouble to read about them.

He remarks, absurdly, that the C.P.R. was "given" by the government to its owners, and contradicts himself by saying that 70 per cent of these live outside the Dominion. It is obvious that the "people of Canada" would not make any such present, especially to people "outside the Dominion."

I need not comment further on his childish statements. However, I would like to say that I think Mr. Beatty's idea, or a similar one, is the only solution, the only way out of our railway difficulties. We cannot go on as we are doing. Canada cannot afford to pay a million dollars deficit weekly for her national railways. I read some time ago that an absurd law had passed in Ottawa making unification of the railways illegal. Surely if that is all that can be said against unification, it is worthwhile cancelling or even breaking such a law to save Canada seventy million dollars a year. I think that the sooner a plan, as outlined by Mr. Beatty, is carried out the better, not only for the C.P.R. but for Canada and its national railways.

IN BRITAIN

To the Editor:—Will you publish a few remarks regarding the accounts of two tours, reported a short time ago. First was by an Englishman, giving, amongst other things, an account of a visit to England. Apparently he was still suffering from sea-sickness when he landed, as he found nothing as he thought it would be, or ought to be. Now, Sir why bother telling us what they have not got that is up to date. Goodness knows we have thousands of houses in Canada without electric light, water, or baths and here away from the seaside, a bath will cost from 25 cents to 50 cents whereas over there a swimming pool of public bath, as he calls it, costs 1 or 2 cents. There is nothing more interesting than accounts of trips to far-off places, that is if one saw anything while traveling. I should like it very much if he had told us something about the wonderfully efficient and fast subway trains, and electric trains and their beautiful parks and swimming places as well as thousands of new improvements.

I wonder did he go and come back without a trip up or down the wonderful Thames River. His letter reminded me of an old farmer that left the middle prairies for a trip to London. When he came back the local paper man thought he would get an account of his trip. Well, it was about the time some wise, or otherwise guy, took the notion of splitting men's shirts up the front, and sewing on about three buttons. All the traveller seemed able to remember was that the Englishman pulled his shirt over his head, but knew nothing about the splendid dairy herds, and electrically equipped farms or the efficient factories. Showing in what narrow grooves some minds run. Still one expects better from a minister.

Well, the other account was by a Scotch lady. She gives a very good and interesting account of their trip, telling us about things we would like to hear about, which also makes good advertising, and as advertisers I think, we are record only to the Americans, and will be rated even ahead

SCIATICA

Stabbing Pain in Hip and Thigh

"About a year ago I had an attack of Sciatica so painful my hip was almost locked. Muscles of my right leg down to the heel were drawn up by the pain. A friend told me to use T-R-C's. I had relief from the first dose. In 10 days the pain had vanished," writes Victor Roy, Beaupre, P.Q. Equally good for Rheumatism, Lame Back, Painful Neuritis. No harmful drugs. 50c and $1. of them, whereas your Englishman was ever the world's worst advertiser and his own worst enemy on account of it. But to get back to the letter, I would like to call his attention to sanitation in Victoria for visitors. There is one public place for men and women near the station, one public place for men only hidden away very carefully back under the Public Library. Now why the City Fathers wanted to hide it I don't know but I am willing to bet that not one tourist in a thousand knows where it is. I had to get a cop to guide me to it. I am sure that neither Glasgow nor London expects a tourist to sponge on hotels and garages like the Capital City of B.C. does. Why don't at least one of the City Fathers wake up and put a notice on that cave under the library, so that others could share the secret, and it might almost pay to put some of the unemployed to work and dig one or two hide-outs somewhere on Douglas or Government Streets where no one could find them. Oh, well, to go back again to touring, I am sure others like myself would be very pleased to read the account of trips to other lands, but when you spend money to go visiting, go with the intention of enjoying things as they are, then it is money well spent and you come home a better citizen.

AN OLD SWEAT.

HOROSCOPES

To the Editor:—I notice your all-wise H. B. W. has some remarks to make on the horoscope and the horoscopes, but retrieves himself in the end by concluding that the "absurd part of it all is that they may be right."

Just as examples of how right they are and of the fine work being done by British students of the stars, may I mention two forecasts made at the end of 1933 to cover 1934 published by that fine old London astrologer "Old Moore." From his observatory, which is in no way as pretentious as the Canadian one on Little Saanich Mountain just outside Victoria, he observed nearly a year ago that "the new moon ruling September (1934) falls in the celestial sign Virgo near the cusp of the fourth house of London." From this he made the definite forecast that during the early part of September "transport will be affected and a disaster is to be feared. The textile trades will be affected." And now we have the Morro Castle disaster and the great textile strike in the south. What more do you want?

D. S.

Special to The Times
Cumberland, Sept. 13.—The inadequacy of pressure and volume of water at Cumberland for fire-fighting purposes was again brought to the front by a letter from the chief of the fire department read at the meeting of the City Council Monday, in which he stated that at the fire at No. 5 Mine of the Canadian Collieries on Thursday last, the water pressure was "absolutely inadequate." The chief pointed out that the tipple of the mine had been in grave danger of catching fire, and had it done so, it would have been impossible to save it. This would have caused damage to the mine which would have put it out of operation for a considerable time and caused a very great loss to Cumberland. He suggested that a meeting be arranged between representatives of the Canadian Collieries, the City Council and the chief and fire department and representatives of the Cumberland waterworks to consider this "dangerous situation."

Arrangements for the date, calling a meeting were left in the hands of the city clerk.

Original "Jiggs"
Dies in New York

Associated Press
New York, Sept. 13.—While sitting in the lobby of a hotel yesterday evening talking, Daniel Simmons, the original "Jiggs" in "Bringing Up Father" and first "Happy Hooligan" when those characters appeared in the theatre, suddenly collapsed and died. He was sixty-four years of age. The remains will be buried at his old home at Peterboro, Ont.

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Does The Work
Few pile sufferers know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel. This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories so often may not give lasting relief and why cutting sometimes removes the pile tumor but leaves its existing cause which may create a recurrence.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. For this an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, and acts to relieve congestion.

So isn't it better, when salves fail and before considering operation, to try this internal remedy when MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores invite every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

Mr. H. P. Alberry of Rudgwick Farm, Sandwick, is in Victoria on a business trip.

Mr. William Rolfe of Victoria left on the liner Aorangi for Auckland yesterday to spend yesterday of three or four months' touring Australia.

Miss Lorna Lewin of London, England, formerly of Victoria, has just returned to England after spending a holiday in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cuthforth of Barons, Alberta, accompanied by their family, have come to Victoria to make their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. George Irving of Vancouver are among the visitors from the mainland spending a few days in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Clark of Vancouver are among the visitors from Vancouver who came over to Victoria to attend the race meet at the Willows.

Mrs. J. Savannah and her daughter, Miss Betty Savannah, left on Monday for Seattle on a visit to friends. They went by way of Vancouver, motoring to the Sound city.

Mr. Lawrence Robinson of Regina who has been in Victoria for a few days as guest of Mrs. J. H. Robinson, Hewlett Place, has left for Vancouver on his return to his home on the prairie, via Prince Rupert.

Mrs. E. A. Henderson of Vancouver who has been visiting in Victoria with Mrs. E. H. King of Harbinger Avenue, returned yesterday afternoon to her home on the mainland owing to the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Colin Macdonell.

Mrs. J. Cornell, Vancouver, who has been visiting in Victoria for the last week with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Dufford, Parkington Street, returned this afternoon to her home on the mainland.

Mrs. E. A. Henderson of Vancouver, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. King, Harbinger Avenue, during the past few days, returned home yesterday, owing to the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Colin Macdonell.

Miss Jean Thompson of Fredericton, New Brunswick, who is visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Winslow, Craigdarroch, was the guest of honor at a luncheon party given by Mrs. Winslow yesterday at the Oak Bay Golf Club.

A happy crowd attended the Belmont Cabaret yesterday evening when many tables were reserved.

Josephine Delves was hostess to a party given in honor of Mrs. George T. Read (Shanghai) and Mrs. Duff (Yokohama) who leave Victoria for the Orient next week. In addition to the honored guests the party included Miss Phyllis Pendry, Mrs. Ken Brown, Mr. Jim Bulling, Mr. Logan Mayhew, Mr. Roy Denny, Alan King was enthusiastically applauded for his two well-chosen songs, "I'm Singing Love" and "The Song of the To-night," which he sang with his usual brilliance. A party of eight which included Mr. and Mrs. Knudsen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Semple and Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Shore, was given in honor of the last named couple who celebrated their wedding anniversary. Other dancing included Capt. Leven, Miss Lillian Chibace, Miss Nancy Pritchard, Mr. J. C. Potchell (Seattle) and Mr. Bronson (Portland), who entertained a party of twelve. The Belmont orchestra came in for many congratulations and by special request Arthur Groves gave two numbers, "The Man on the Flying Trapeze" and "Eddie Cantor's Making Whoopie," which received spontaneous vocal assistance from the guests.

Mrs. J. H. D. Benson of Oak Bay was a guest, and her daughter, Miss Marjorie Benson, was a bridesmaid at the wedding at Robertson Church, Edmonton, on Saturday last, when Jean, only daughter of Mr. George E. Benson, deputy attorney general of Alberta, and Mrs. Benson, became the bride of Mr. George Murray Gossage, prominent Torontonian, and son of Mrs. C. A. Gossage of Texas. Rev. W. S. Dyde, D.D., performed the ceremony in the presence of a congregation which included Hon. W. L. Walsh, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, and Mrs. Walsh. The bride was regal in her wedding gown of point de Venise lace, fashioned on classical lines. The bodice was severely simple and the long skirt finished in a sweeping train of court length. Her veil was of illusion tulle, the soft folds sweeping over the dress and train. It hung from a halo of tulle. She wore satin slippers and carried orchids and lilies of the valley. Miss Cecil Nightingale was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Marjorie Benson of Victoria, a cousin of the bride; Mrs. Edward Ketchum of Toronto and Miss Helen Stocking of Montreal. Little Miss Mary Lowe was the flower girl. All wore frocks of olive green velvet. All dresses touched the floor and had medieval necklines outlined in gold metallic. Their hats were Rembrandt berets of green velvet to match their frocks. They wore gold slippers and carried sheafs of gold chrysanthemums. The little flower girl's frock was green georgette girdled in velvet and her beret was velvet of the same shade.

Dr. Kunz also dealt with Indian home life, describing the beauty of the women's dress, whose style has remained the same for 3,000 years, and to her policy of absorbing the conqueror and the consequent influence on her history and economic condition. He also touched briefly upon the philosophy of India, which he described as the oldest thought alive in the world.

SAYS CHILDREN ARE SMOKING

Toronto, Sept. 13.—Trustees at a meeting of the management committee of the Toronto board of education yesterday expressed the belief smoking was general among school children.

Mrs. Rose Henderson said she had canvassed the lunch counters and proprietors had declared smoking by school children was increasing.

Mrs. Henderson also appealed for temperance teaching, declaring she had seen two young girls being taken from a beverage parlor and that she had seen youths, little more than children, going into the parlors. She declared the girls she had seen were about sixteen years of age.

Princess Chooses Paris Trousseau

Paris, Sept. 13.—Like an ordinary shopper, Princess Marina of Greece spent to-day trying on hats and dresses to complete her trousseau for her wedding this winter to Prince George.

A fashionable dressmaker provided most of the dresses, including her wedding gown, but the Princess, accustomed to buying from Paris' smaller and less expensive shops, patronized them for hats and hosiery.

RED CROSS TO MAKE APPEAL

Workshop Great Boon to City; Keeps Men Off Relief

An appeal for funds in aid of the Red Cross Society will be made in a few days to the people of Victoria. Among its many undertakings are the Red Cross Workshop, which is, and has been, a great benefit to the city of Victoria.

Between thirty and forty men look to this shop for employment. These men are all disabled ex-soldiers who, from the nature of their disability, are unable to compete in the open market. By the work obtained in the Red Cross Workshop the employees are kept off relief. They earn their own living and can keep their self-respect. Their children are given a better chance in life. Owing to the increasing age of the men it is more necessary than ever that this shop be supported by work and monetary contributions. The Red Cross Workshop has filled a great need in the city, where any article in wood, wicker or metal can be made or repaired.

NICK STUART IS DIVORCED

Sue Carol Given Decree From Star of "Crimson Paradise" Film

Associated Press
Los Angeles, Sept. 13.—Sue Carol, diminutive twenty-five-year-old brown-eyed beauty movie actress, got a divorce to-day from Nick Stuart, film actor. She charged her husband threw a book at her head, was sullen and surly, and at times refused to talk to her for "days and days."

The real family name of the actress was Evelyn Lederer, and she was born in Chicago October 30, 1908. Stuart was born in Rumania, his real family name having been Nicholas Frata, changed to Fraita when his parents came to this country. They were married five years ago and have a two-year-old daughter, Carol Lee Stuart. Custody of the child was awarded to the actress, and a property settlement was made out of court.

King's Daughters—A special meeting of the King's Daughters will be held Monday afternoon, Sept. 17, at 2 o'clock at the headquarters. All members are asked to attend as important business is to be discussed.

Liberal Women's Forum—Miss Dorothy Parsons will be the soloist at the opening meeting of the Liberal Women's Forum to be held on Friday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at the headquarters, Broughton Street. Mrs. C. C. Spofford will be the speaker.

Juvenile A.O.F.—Court Liberty Juvenile A.O.F. will hold their regular meeting Friday, September 14, when a good attendance is looked for after the holidays. They will be entertained by Court Northern Light to house-house and ice cream.

Fairfield Choir.—The Fairfield United Church choir held their first monthly meeting of the season Monday evening, with the president in the chair. Much business was discussed and a very fine programme was drawn up for the coming season. At the close of the meeting a very enjoyable evening was spent in games and music. Refreshments were served under the convenship of Mrs. Keating.

Metropolitan Y.P.S.—Sportsmanship was the theme of the opening night of the Metropolitan Young People's Society. The evening started off with a sing-song led by Mr. Warr, followed by a fellowship handshake in which everybody took part. Many games were played, but the most successful was a game of baseball series. The teams included were the Beavers, Pirates, Mets and the Diamonds. The Diamonds were the final victors while the Mets were the runners-up. The Diamonds, under Ed Cliff, received a mock cup and the Mets received soles for their shoes. A conjuring feat by Mr. Warr received much applause, especially from two terrified people. In order to receive their refreshments everyone present was requested to sign an amateur card and to hand them in at the dugout, where they received coffee and doughnuts.

EDITOR CAMPS OUT ON ROOF TOP

New York, Sept. 13.—Some people who live in a lofty apartment building began sniffing the breeze the other evening, trying to locate certain odors reminiscent of the woods. "Reminds me of a campfire," one said. "I'd swear there was a steak and coffee cooking," declared another. They were both right. Squatting in front of a fire on his penthouse terrace nearby, Mr. Max Herzberg, a magazine editor, was broiling a steak of magnificent proportions. And making some coffee. He does that at least once a week, due to a nostalgia for the great open spaces. The big-city influence is getting him, though. While cooking, he wears a derby hat and gloves.

PRINCE GEORGE'S FIANCEE IN LONDON

This is the latest picture of Princess Marina of Greece (left), who recently became engaged to Prince George of England. With her in London is Princess Paul of Yugoslavia, whose husband was influential in arranging the royal match. They were holidaying in the British capital just before Marina's trip to Bled, where Prince George proposed. In London yesterday, Prince George picked out the engagement ring he will give his fiancée. A sapphire of great value, for which a specially-designed setting was ordered, was the Prince's choice. His fiancée, now in Paris, arrives in London this week-end to meet the King and Queen.

YOUR CHILDREN

HOME-SCHOOL GAP MUST BE BRIDGED

It would be unnatural indeed if boys and girls in public school felt completely at home.

There is little in the educational system as we know it to tie it to home life.

This is an advantage in some ways, but a disadvantage in others. It is good for children to meet life on a basis other than that of the family group, yet if school continues as in the past to be a thing apart, especially for young children, there will continue in the child's heart a feeling of divided allegiance—not in favor of the school.

Perhaps few children go as far as to say to the teacher, "You're not my boss," but if the truth were known this is the sentiment of many and always has been.

WORK, NOT CHILD, THAT COUNTS

They may be unaware of it; they even may be fond of the teacher in a way and accept school with a wholesome attitude toward discipline and work.

But in school they are not real entities, and they know it. They are one of a group. Individually they count, but not for themselves. It is their work that counts. Each child is measured, not by love as at home, but by his deeds. He is, more or less, a producing machine.

AGAIN THIS IS A GOOD THING, ALTHOUGH IT DOES NOT BRIDGE THE GAP

Between school and home. But it does bridge the gap, for it teaches the child to work. It teaches him to overcome the feeling that each day he must cross the Rubicon into alien country.

PRE-CHUM AGE DIFFICULT

Later, it won't matter so much when Bill and Chuck and Pete are just a bit more important to his parents, or when Sally is nearby for Jane to share her secrets.

It is the pre-chum or pre-gang stage that children are likely to feel they leave something precious at home every time they pick up their books. There is a way to give such children a greater trust in school and to help them to conform more happily to its rigid requirements.

Both school and home should cooperate in this plan, because it precludes the visits of too many mothers to schoolrooms. Of course, every mother would be wise to contact the teacher in some way, with the child present, and become friends with her.

CONTINUING UNIVERSITY STUDIES

Among the Victoria students who will be leaving shortly to continue their university studies will be Ralph Gower Davies Moore, M.A., and May Amelia Ermine Moore, B.A., the children of Col. and Mrs. F. W. L. Moore, Quadra Street. Mr. Moore, who graduated with first-class honors in chemistry at the U.B.C. and has been doing anti-tuberculosis research work there for the last two years, recently won a $6000 scholarship, with which he will continue his chemical research work at McGill University. Miss Moore, who also distinguished herself in her studies at Victoria High School and College, took her B.A. in English with honors at the U.B.C. last year and will resume her studies there when the term opens. Both have won many prizes and scholarships and are well on the way to brilliant careers.

WOOLENS FEATURED

Woolens are featured this fall. On one side of a woolen fabric department you will see the rough-surfaced materials that are simply grand for active and sportswear sports dresses, and straight across the aisle, the smooth wool crepes and sheers that are so highly recommended for street and other daytime costumes.

If you want to be really chic, have woolen gloves to match your dress. Or have woolen gloves and beret that contrast with the color of the costume itself.

Sashes and Belts

Wide belts are used on the new fall sports clothes. And long, flowing sashes, tied in front, are shown on street and afternoon dresses. One particularly smart street-length dinner dress of black silk crepe has a pleated vest of royal blue and a sash to match. The sash is fastened at the sides, crosses at the back and then comes around to tie in a neat knot in front. Sashes that hang a few inches below the hem-line are smartest.

St. Joseph's T.W.A.—A meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Tubercular Pavilion was held Tuesday afternoon in the sisters' recreation room at Vernon Villa. Mrs. O'Neill was elected second vice-president and a welcome was extended to three new members, Mrs. Profit and Mrs. McAllister expressed their appreciation to all members and friends who helped to make their silver tea a success. Plans were made for a membership tea to be held at the home of the president, Miss Katharine MacKay, 1028 Pakenham Street, on Wednesday afternoon, October 24. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 9.

IS STRING AT FAULT?

"My six-month-old boy weighs nearly nineteen pounds," she writes. "He has twenty-five ounces of milk, ten of water, two tablespoons of barley water, one tablespoon of magnessia, five tablespoons of limewater and five of syrup. He has so much gas that sometimes he does not even want to take his bottle."

"Would putting a string across the bottle under the nipple to prevent it from collapsing have anything to do with this?"

"Please give me a formula that will not cause gas. My baby won't take anything but sweetened water."

REVISE FORMULA

The string has no relation to the disturbance. Reduce the fat content of the formula by skimming the milk. Or, use a less rich cow's milk, or an evaporated milk. Your formula contains too little milk, too much cream, and is burdened with other unnecessary ingredients.

Try thirty ounces of boiled, skimmed milk, one to one and one-half ounces of syrup, boiled water to make forty ounces. Put into five bottles.

Cereal should be given separately, also orange juice, cod liver oil and vegetables. Our feeding leaflet, also leaflet on sweet milk formulas may be had for a self-addressed stamped envelope if you will send for it to this department. Omit sugar from drinking water. When he's really thirsty he'll drink it.

To-morrow: "Feed Baby Fruit for Vitamin C."

COOK PUTS IT OVER SOCIETY

After Losing Heavily in Exclusive Gambling Clubs, Maid Charged With Theft

London, Sept. 13.—The sole topic of conversation in certain exclusive society gaming clubs of Kensington and Knightsbridge has been of one of their members who had turned out to be a cook-general.

The revelation took place in Westminster police court when a Danish woman, who was stated to have married an Englishman last June, was sentenced to six months in the second division for stealing jewelry, including a diamond necklace valued at £200, from her employer, Dr. Ferdinand Quimper of Euse's Gate, South Kensington, S.W.

She was Gudron Cavendish, aged twenty-nine, of King's Road, Chelsea. Detective-inspector Somerset stated that Cavendish had a passion for bridge and went to bridge clubs and mixed with people far beyond her own social position.

JOINED FIVE CLUBS

A reporter who set out to investigate the career of this astonishing servant, learned of no fewer than five clubs given over to either poker or bridge, or both, where "Mrs. Cavendish" had been a regular player.

To each of these clubs she gained admission through the introduction of members of other clubs. At each she played recklessly and lost consistently.

Two of these resorts were within a few hundred yards of the flat where she was employed as cook and general housemaid. To support her story of wealth and position she sometimes took her "club friends" back to her employer's flat for cocktails when her employer and his wife were away.

LOST RECKLESSLY

The secretary of one of the clubs said she seemed to have no idea of the value of cards and plunged recklessly on any hand. In one club towards the end of her career she lost £150 in one night. Some members refused to play with her owing to her recklessness.

"She never wanted to stop and would go on from one club to another until 4 a.m."

"She used to say that her family was in a very high social position in Denmark and that she had an allowance of £250 a week from her father. When she was unable to pay her debts she said it was because her father had stopped her allowance on account of her gambling, but assured us it would soon be resumed."

"Sometimes she came with a man apparently much younger than herself, whom she introduced as her husband."

For her employment as cook Mrs. Cavendish received £5 a week and her board and lodging.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

TOO RICH MILK UPSETS DIGESTION

The digestive disturbances, attendant upon the use of too rich cow's milk in infant formulas, are invariably typical. Loss of appetite is an almost constant phenomenon. The extraordinary fat content of each bottle discourages the appetite, because the fat of the formula remains longer in the stomach than the other elements.

So long as the fat is present in the stomach there are few or no hunger contractions, since these are stimulated by an empty stomach. The baby does not need so much of his nourishment contributed by fat. He needs protein and water and sugar, quite as much as he needs fat.

PENALTIES STORED UP

Facial eruptions are sometimes the result of too much cream in the milk. These and blackheads both seem to disappear when the amount of cream is materially lessened.

Indigestion, especially an indication that appears only in the late afternoon or early evening, is sometimes indicative of a fat burden that has accumulated throughout the day and stored up its penalties until the baby is ready to go to sleep.

Mrs. J. D. P. is sure Jersey cow's milk is not too rich for her baby, because their cows have been denied pasture. Nevertheless she is not satisfied with results.

SAILORS' HOME WILL APPEAL

Seamen's Institute to Hold Tag Day to Carry on

On Saturday, the little band of women who for many years have efficiently and economically managed the affairs of the Victoria Seamen's Institute, Superior Street, will appeal to the public for assistance to carry on the work. They are hoping that the response will be a generous one, as on the occasion of their last public appeal, in 1933, a deluge of rain militated against the success of the tag day.

Victoria is an island port, necessitating the bringing of all supplies here by boat, and it will be realized that this entails the presence here, year in and year out, of seafaring men from all parts of the world. The Institute is the only haven for sailors coming from other ports, and it has proved a real boon to them, as the many grateful letters received by the matron and committee testify.

The comforts provided for the men include library, sitting-room, billiards, radio, and comfortable beds, and the care given to the shipwrecked crew of the ill-fated Chilean a few months ago was most gratefully appreciated by them. The Institute has also done a great deal of relief work among unemployed seamen, besides supplying many comforts to the men in the isolated lighthouses around the coast.

As the members of the Institute are very small in number they would welcome the assistance of taggers. Anyone willing to assist is asked to telephone G 2139 or G 6974 as soon as possible.

"It is absolutely imperative that children be well fed and warmly clothed if they are to maintain their health," stated a well-known local doctor the other day in speaking of the fine work the Friendly Help Welfare Association is doing along these lines for the unfortunate families of Greater Victoria.

This doctor said it is much easier to provide shoes and good plain, wholesome food than it is to pay hospital bills and doctors' fees. If children are allowed to become run-down, through lack of good food, and if they are allowed to take colds, because their shoes are not strong enough, they are bound to become ill and will need medical attention.

It is to prevent children from becoming ill that the officers of the Friendly Help Welfare Association are striving. Officers of the association are now planning a drive, to start October 15, for $45,000, which is expected to run the organizations for the next twelve months.

SEEK ANSWER TO FIRE TEACHERS

Strong Resolution Will Be Brought Before Trustees' Convention at Nelson

Special To The Times

Courtesy Sept. 12.—At a meeting of the Comox School Trustees Association, resolutions were considered which will be sent to the Provincial School Trustees Association annual meeting at Nelson on September 17.

The matter of dismissal of teachers was brought up and the following resolution framed: "Whereas difficulty is continually arising through school boards not having the power to dismiss teachers, with the result that teachers who have been dismissed for cause, have been reinstated by the department of public instruction against the wishes of both the school board and a great majority of the ratepayers of that particular district and whereas such re-instatement has been made without any apparent regard for the interests of the pupil, be it resolved that where a teacher has been discharged by unanimous decision of a school board, this association and the following resolution passed, a copy of which will be sent to the minister of education.

Resolved, that this meeting of the Comox Valley School Trustees Association having carefully considered the present situation between the principal and the board of trustees, and the events leading up thereto, is of the opinion that a grave injustice has been done by the board of reference in re-instating the principal, that this meeting therefore endorses the attitude of the school board and protests the decision of the board of reference.

Delegates appointed to attend the provincial convention were J. W. McKenzie, Courtney, and Mrs. A. Carwithen, Tolium.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By MARY E. DAGUE

There seems to be a tradition in this country that real is indigestible. But Sister Mary's Kitchen is a place where real is delicious. The truth is that the digestibility of food is determined by the cooking. Scientific experiments have proved that properly cooked food is as easily digested as any other meat. Remember that real food should be thoroughly cooked, never left raw or underdone. A good rule to keep in mind is that meat from young animals must always be well done while that from mature animals may be cooked rare if you like.

Uncle Wiggly's Tree Surprise

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggly thought, and so did his wife and Nurse Jane Fussy Wussy, that a clothes tree was the best place for their clothes. But when they found that the clothes tree was a surprise, they were all surprised.

BREEDING KEYS IN JUICE

A covered roast, larding, frequent basting with butter and water, though a satisfactory method for roasting chops and cutlets may be rolled in flour or bread crumbs, browned, covered with a thick sauce of butter and a splash of vinegar.

TWO POUNDS FOLEG OF VEAL, 4 CUPS WATER, 1 SMALL ONION, 1 BLADE CELERY, 1 SMALL CARROT, BIT OF BAYLEAF, 14 TEASPOON PEPPERCORNS, 2 TEASPOONS SALT.

Peal but do not slice onion. Scrape carrot and cut in quarters. Cut celery in half-inch pieces and put these vegetables in a square of muslin. The securely and drop into water. Bring to the boiling point and add meat. Cook hour and fifteen minutes. Then reduce heat and simmer until tender, about three hours. Cool in the water. Remove meat from stock and cut in cubes. Strain stock and add to meat. Season with salt and pepper. Garnish with parsley and serve.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Grapes, cereal, cream, scrambled eggs, reheated rolls, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Surprise baked potatoes, lettuce sandwiches, whipped cream, oatmeal cookies, milk, and fruit. Dinner: Potatoes, beef, bread, and fruit.

Supper: Potatoes, beef, bread, and fruit. Dessert: Fruit and cream.

Style Split

Split skirts are the biggest fashion news right now. Your new fall daytime dress will show six and seven-inch slits on the sides and your evening dresses are pretty apt to have longer slits either in front or on one side.

Think, from now on, you can learn to hang up your clothes on the tree. "Oh, yes, Daddy," said Buster, taking a breakfast of one's appetite. "Gust and Duster said 'Buster'."

"I should say so! Look here!" cried Gust as he took his clothes off a peg and saw underneath the carrot lollypops.

"Oh, I have some, too!" shouted Duster. "Uncle Wiggly popped his head into the room and said: 'I did it, boys. Don't you

Married Flirts

By MABEL McLEWITT

"Two o'clock," Tom offered, as the attendant wheeled the little car out into the middle of the big empty concrete garage. It was cold, dreary, and shabby. Only this man, in his shabby blue overalls, was blinking over a copy of a detective magazine, which Gypsy shivered and held David's warm, limp coat close to her as Tom took his place beside the wheel. It was strange; it was all strange and infinitely terrifying. The Hudson Tunnel and the maw of the Hudson Tunnel, which flashed by military policemen, who gazed at them incredulously. Once on the other side of the river, Tom murmured. The roads were empty except for an occasional cruising taxi.

"Fifty minutes," Tom announced as they passed the first sign reading, "You are now entering the incorporated village of Blue Hills, twenty miles an hour speed limit."

Gypsy sat tense, rigid, her fingers curving around the baby's shawled form. Upper Dear Street, a house with lights in all the windows and the doctor's coupe parked in the drive. She was in a fever of suspense. Her knees were shaking, her hands icy.

Clyde opened the door soundlessly at their approach, an unfamiliar figure in a black dress put on hastily. Her woolly mop sat awry.

"How is he?" Gypsy whispered. "The doctor says he's very bad."

Clyde said rolling her eyes. "He says you come right up." She reached for the baby and held him with a capable air, leaving Tom to follow Gypsy up the broad stairs.

Everything in the big house was hushed. Beatrice and Bertram sat gravely on the window seat at the head of the staircase. The girl twin sat alone in the dark, crying. Her eyes were rimmed the handkerchief she pressed to them was sodden. She whispered that Gypsy was to go straight up.

The wide room with the old-fashioned rounded bay, the room Gypsy remembered from earliest girlhood as "mother's room" was still and orderly now. A twist of white paper shaded the lamp on the little cherry table beside the bed. Doctor Morrell was there. Mrs. Morrell was there. A nurse was there. Gypsy, who had been frightened before, was transfixed at the sight of the latter-day doctor.

Morrell never had a trained nurse in the house except once for a day or a night when Mother came home from the hospital.

The doctor caught sight of Gypsy and Tom in the doorway and said something inaudible to Mrs. Morrell. She flitted apathetic eyes, and followed him out into the hall.

He gave the girl a warning glance toward her mother's back. "Perfect quiet," he said. Gypsy thought proudly that he was mistaken. If he thought she was going to make a fuss, why, to make a fuss now, with Daddy desperately ill, would be the worst thing that could happen!

How did it all start? Mrs. Morrell sat down in the low chair beside the machine in the sewing room. It was untidy, littered with scraps of chintz. There were white threads all over the shabby Astorminster carpet. No one noticed or cared.

"He went to a board meeting—" "The board?" Mrs. Morrell said listlessly. She had been weeping but she was beyond tears now. She spoke mechanically, as though she had been all over this ground before. "He usually gets home before 11, but when he didn't to-night, I wasn't worried. I thought he'd been delayed. It seems he was alone on the River road. The rains had washed away some of the shoulder. He must have been turning out to avoid someone. You know Daddy never did like to drive at night," she interpolated pathetically. "They say it happened at 10:30. The car clock stopped then. They didn't find him—the policeman didn't—until he made his rounds at a quarter past 11. They brought him home." Her eyes began to fill again and she shook her head, unable to go on.

Gypsy's eyes sought the doctor's. "Concussion," he said briefly. "He hasn't regained consciousness."

"I might say you for a moment, doctor," the nurse was in the doorway and Gypsy hated her. Her self-possession, her almost smiling calm, her assurance. If Daddy were going to die . . . If Daddy were going to die . . .

Mrs. Morrell started up. "He's not to be left alone," she said fiercely. "I told her particularly he was not to be left alone. That's why I suggested you should come."

"But can't we do something—get somebody? Specialists . . . anything?"

"I've already phoned Martineau . . . Dr. Henle Martineau at New-

Thousands Attended Willowair in Citizens' Day

Cattle Parade and Horse Show Events Main Attractions

Weather Did Not Deter Holiday Crowd; Covered Wagon Leads Stock Parade in Afternoon; Thrilling Events at Horse Show in Evening; All Judging Finished

Though rain fell practically all yesterday afternoon it did not deter thousands from attending Citizens' Day at the Victoria fair. Street cars were jammed with excited children, and the roads leading to the fair were dense with cars and people moving to the exhibition. Crowds thronged all the buildings, and even when the rain was doing its best to make a lake out of the grounds, thousands enjoyed the thrills along the midway. Not only have large receipts climbed every day since the fair began, but for the third day in succession the increase in attendance has been the highest in eleven years.

The main afternoon attraction was the stock parade, which was greatly enjoyed by a huge crowd. A team of oxen, owned by Hon. S. F. Tolmie, and driven by Donald Hardy, led the parade, which included nearly 400 head of livestock. The oxen pulled an old covered wagon, which was loaded with settlers' equipment, even to a pair of kittens. Despite adverse weather conditions the parade was declared by fair officials to be the biggest in eleven years.

As night fell the fair became a still greater scene of activity. Searchlights played over the grounds, and the midway was a mass of color and noise, and each "epilepsy" tried to outdo his neighbors. At 8 o'clock 1,200 persons were in the Horse Show Building, and were thrilled by the daring, gracefulness and beauty of the performance. The spectators were again held in suspense by the dizzy speed which the drivers drove their six-horse teams. Another of these events will be staged to-night, with George Allison supervising the details.

From start to finish there was hardly a dull moment in the show, and Col. J. J. Fry had a difficult task in judging. The Victoria course event was one of the outstanding performances on the programme. The horses had to jump over a brush obstacle, pick up a post and rail, pig pen, another brush jump, stone wall, post and triple bar. A final heat had to be run to decide third and fourth places.

In the finale, riders took their mounts over eight successive jumps of all types, one of the most difficult feats in the equine game. The hardest jump of the whole lot which the steeds had to leap was a high triple bar with a six-foot spread.

daughter of Mr. H. T. Meunier, of Oak

Bay, B.C., to Mr. Archibald M. D.

Palmer, of Victoria, B.C., by Rev. J. H.

and Mrs. W. A. S. Fairbairn, of East

London, South Africa.

DIED

FISHER—Suddenly at the family residence on Monday, September 10, Edgar H.

Fisher, aged seventy-two years, of 601

Arden Road, the late Mr. Fisher was born in England and had been a resident of this city for the last twenty-two years. He leaves to mourn his passing his widow, Mrs. E. Fisher,

Trevor, who is engineer on the Prince

George, and Donald L., of the Army Service Corps, and two grandchildren; also two sisters in England.

The remains are resting at McCall Bros.

Funeral Home and will be taken to St.

Mark's Church on Friday morning, where service will be held on Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Rev. O. L. Jull will conduct the service, after which interment will be in Greenwood Burial Park.

ELIAS—At the family residence, 3401 Cook

Street, at an early hour on Wednesday morning, William Henry Elias, aged seventy-five years, the late Mr.

Elias was born in London, England, and had been a resident of this city for the last twenty-two years. He leaves to mourn his passing his wife, Mrs. E.

Elias, with whom he resided, and two children; also two sisters in England.

The remains are resting at McCall Bros.

Funeral Home and will be taken to St.

Mark's Church on Friday morning, where

service will be held on Friday afternoon,

at 2 o'clock. Rev. O. L. Jull will conduct

the service, after which interment will be in Greenwood Burial Park.

LAWIN—The death occurred Monday, of Mrs. Dorothy Lawin, wife of Captain

J. B. Lawin, at St. Joseph's Hospital.

morrow, at 3:30 o'clock, at St. Joseph's

Funeral Parlor. Interment will be in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

ST. CLAIR—Passed away on September 12, at the family residence

Lake Hill, Mrs. St. Clair, wife of

Major Jas. St. Clair, a native of Ireland, and resident of Victoria for the last thirty years. The late

Mrs. St. Clair is survived by her husband; her mother, Mrs. M. Mc-

Gregor, Summit Avenue, Victoria; four brothers, Archie M. McGregor, Oakland, Calif.; Henry G. McGregor, Sea-tle, Wash.; Fred M. McGregor, and

A. R. McGregor, Victoria, and one sister, residing in Vancouver, B.C.

afternoon, at 2:30 September 14, from the Thomson Funeral Home. The remains will be taken to Vancouver for cremation.

WELSH—In loving memory of Archie

Welsh, who passed away on September 13, 1932.

"Forever in Our Thoughts"

—Inserted by his widow and daughter, mother, sisters and brothers.

IN MEMORIAM

FRIDMORE—In loving memory of Robert

Fridmore, beloved son of Mr. and Mrs.

W. H. Fridmore, who passed away

September 13, 1932.

In his innocence and beauty,

With his soul as pure as snow,

He is missed on the bosom

Of the God we love and know,

Beside his grave we often stand

With hearts both crushed and sore,

Yet through the gloom the sweet words

Come

"Not lost, but gone before"

—Ever remembered by his mother, sister, and brothers.

FINE CAST IN NEW PICTURE

Five of the greatest states in the United States contributed the five principal players in the cast of the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "The Girl from Missouri," coming Saturday to the Capitol Theatre.
From Pennsylvania came Lionel Barrymore; Jean Harlow, from Missouri; Lewis Stone, from Massachusetts; Franchot Tone, from New York and Hale Hamilton from Iowa.
Adapted from an original story by Anita Loos and John Emerson, "The Girl from Missouri" was produced by Bernard Hyman and directed by Jack Conway.

PAUL LUKAS AT COLUMBIA

Zane Grey's exciting action-romance, "The Mysterious Rider," done into a motion picture by a cast headed by Kent Taylor, Lona Andre, Irving Pichel, Gail Patrick and Warren Hymer, is at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

The film tells the story of a single man's battle against powerful forces which seek to overtake half a hundred ranchers and their families from the property which they own and love.
Also being shown as a second feature is "Give My Love," starring Paul Lukas.

"Human Pretzel" To Appear Here

One of Ripley's famous "Believe it or not" subjects is featured in "The Human Pretzel" which will open its Victoria engagement at the Empire Theatre Friday evening. Paul Green, "The Human Pretzel," became known to millions of people all over the world when he was stretched by Ripley. The cartoon appeared in thousands of newspapers.

"The Human Pretzel" was also featured at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago last year and again early this summer. He amazed thousands of people.

"The Penthouse Revue" contains plenty of music and dancing. There are twenty-five artists with the company and each is a star. Theatrical critics of Los Angeles, Seattle, San Francisco and Vancouver, where the revue recently appeared, spoke very highly of it.

"The Cat's Paw" Here To-morrow

An entirely new field of production possibilities has been opened up to Harold Lloyd with the assured success of his first venture in filming an original story, "The Cat's Paw," a novel by Clarence Budington Kelland. "The Cat's Paw" will open at the Dominion Theatre to-morrow.

Not in his many years of comedy making, except for a series of four stories purchased from Tom Dorgan (Tad), famous cartoonist, nearly eighteen years ago, has Lloyd ever made a picture from a published story. There were several reasons why he never operated from stories other than those created by himself and staff. He felt that in producing stories that they have spent thousands of dollars for camera and equipment.

When Hecht and MacArthur are not working at Eastern Service Studios in Astoria, Long Island, they like nothing better than to hunt up some new lenses they have heard or read about, or have made with their highly prized special equipment.

Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, producers and authors of "Penthouse Follies," are showing at the Capitol Theatre, a comedy-drama starring Warner Baxter, opens to-day at the Playhouse Theatre.

"Such Women Are Dangerous," a comedy-drama starring Warner Baxter, opens to-day at the Playhouse Theatre. The film combines romance, intrigue and mystery, and presents Baxter in a role that is ideally suited to his personality. Baxter finds himself the target of the love-making of three charming feminine stars. Rosemary Ames, Rochelle Hudson and Mona Barrie. Baxter as a handsome bachelor, novelist is the admiration of nine million women readers, but three women are directly concerned with his private life.

Also being shown is Fay Wray in "The Countess of Monte Cristo."

New London, Conn., Sept. 13.—Dr. C. A. Chant of the University of Toronto, was elected vice-president of the American Astronomical Society at its annual meeting here yesterday.

W. E. Harper, assistant director of the Dominion Observatory at Victoria, B.C., was elected to the council of the society.

CHURCH PLANS REJECTED

Berlin, Sept. 13 (Associated Press).—The clergy of Wurtemberg, overwhelmingly supported by Bavarian churches, yesterday defiantly rejected Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller's arbitrary measures designed to subordinate state churches under his dictatorship. Bishop Mueller's regime was assailed in a statement issued by representative bodies, while Bishop Meiser of Bavaria, in a letter to Wilhelm Frick, Nazi minister of the interior, proposed a new plan for reorganizing the Protestant church.

Plans Go Ahead For Organization of Dominion Cricket Board

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THE FADING Washington Senators, still titular champions of the American Baseball League, are away down in the swamp now because they have been getting the breaks. Manager Joe Cronin was talking of it just the other day. Then he carried off to Griffith stadium and added to the list of Senatorial breaks. He broke his arm. But it was before this final break that Manager Joe was telling his tale of woe.

"Lute Sewell went first," said Joe. "That was a big handicap to us. Moe Berg was never a hitter. Bolton was a holdout. So our catching was crippled. Then Joe Kuhel broke his leg. We lost a great young first baseman for the season. Since that time every regular on the team has been laid up—some for a long while—with injuries. All except me. I was out one day in St. Louis. It was hot and I drank too much beer—upset my stomach. I missed one game."

He will miss the remainder of the schedule now. They still talk about how tough the old Baltimore Orioles were, but the modern breed must be fairly hardy. Cronin broke his arm in the last half of the eighth inning, but went on and covered his position in the first half of the next. Not bad for a fellow with a broken arm.

For injured parties, there must be something like ether in the atmosphere of competition. A player fired with the spirit of battle doesn't even know he is injured. Cronin said: "I'm all right," and went out to his position, throwing and catching a ball, all with his broken arm.

Just recently Devereux Milburn was playing in one of the polo games on Long Island. In a crash with big Elmer Bieseke, the veteran back went down and his pony rolled on him. Horse and rider skidded into the boards with a sickening sound. Bieseke cringed up his horse, swung around and called excitedly:

"Are you all right, Dev?"

"Milburn picked himself out from under his horse, stood up and said in his deep voice:

"Certainly I'm all right. I feel fine."

He wanted to go on with the game, but a doctor was called to look him over. His collarbone was broken. He was very angry, not at Bieseke but at his collarbone.

Some years ago the New York Yankees were going into a world's baseball series. Late in the season they were playing Cleveland. Benny Bengough was their best catcher at the time. He was hit by a pitched ball at the plate. The ball hit him on the arm and knocked him down. He got up quickly and ran down to the bases. He made ready to run the bases, but the coach decided that he didn't look very healthy. They hauled him off for examination. The doctor found a clean break in his arm. The broken arm just about broke his heart. He wanted to play in the world's series.

But speaking of injuries, as Joe Cronin was before he broke his arm, the manager of the Senators mentioned the New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers.

"You can throw out of it," said Manager Joe. "You wouldn't have repeated injuries or no injuries. But take Detroit and the Yanks. Detroit has had a catcher so far. Not a regular hurt. The Yanks had Dixie Walker out of it all season with a bad arm. Earle Combs fractured his skill in St. Louis. Two pitchers who were expected to be a big help to them have been no use at all—Allen and Van Atta. These are the things that decide pennant races. You have to have a team and plenty of luck to win. We had both last year."

"And neither this year?" countered Manager Joe. "Our pitching softened up a bit, but we've been in the race if we hadn't been crippled so much. Joe Kuhel was out. Schulte was out. Travis was out. Myer was out. Stone was out. We shifted Red Kress around. We had to place six different players were hurt and then Kress was injured. We hardly could put a team on the field. We had a catcher playing second base one day. And Detroit goes along without anybody getting as much as a bad cold."

Just to cheer him up, something was said of the bewhiskered pitcher who recently served a short term with the Senators.

"Oh, Benson," said Manager Joe with a laugh. "Know who brought him in? Joe Cambria, the old covered-wagon man who owns the Albany club. Yeah; Joe saw him playing with a House of David team. We were so crippled that we could have used help from a Boy Scout club, so Owner Griffith decided to give Benson a chance, whiskers and all. I guess it was the first time that any fellow with whiskers played in the big league."

Of course, young Mr. Cronin was all wrong there. In the ancient days the diamond heroes often flourished full sets of whiskers, as the old photos still show.

"Well, anyhow," continued Manager Joe, "Griffith signed him and we tried him out. Just a young fellow, and a nice kid, too. But he couldn't produce."

HOOP PRACTICE

The New Method Laundry basketball team will stage a practice tonight at the Memorial Hall between 8 and 9 o'clock. All last year's players are asked to turn out, and any new players wishing a tryout are asked to get in touch with Clara Belcher at E3735.

Would Unite All Teams In Canada And Advance Game

Details of Scheme Are Announced By H. Dean, Manager of Eastern Eleven

Easterners May Return in 1936

While enthusiasts shivered in the rain watching yesterday's cricket exhibition at Macdonald Park, another more vital feature of Canada's cricketing future was coming closer to fruition. It was a move to unite all Canada under a cricket board of control aimed to promote fixtures with outside teams and eventually send a Maple Leaf team across to Great Britain, possibly in 1937.

Word to this effect was given by Harry Dean, manager of the touring side, who is regarded in himself as Canada's M.C.C.

Five men prominent in the cricket fraternity have been invited to form the board of control, Mr. Dean reported.

They are Hon. R. C. Matthews, Minister of Inland Revenue, who hails from Toronto but spends most of his time in Ottawa. Quebec may be represented by A. D. McTier, Montreal. Dr. H. C. Griffiths, headmaster of Ridley College, has been invited to represent Ontario, and W. C. Mills, Regina, the provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. J. Fyfe-Smith, Vancouver, will probably be British Columbia's representative.

During their tour the easterners have invited the west to send a picked all-star team through the east of Canada for a series next year.

Providing no British team tours the Dominion in 1936, the easterners may return on another visit.

By that time, according to Mr. Dean, the Canadians should be of such calibre that they would merit an invitation from Great Britain for a touring series in the old land against the second class county teams and possibly M.C.C. teams and Scotland.

During recent years cricket in the east of Canada has moved ahead in leaps and bounds, Mr. Dean reported, stating graduates of Ridley and Upper Canada Colleges were filling the ranks of club teams in Toronto and other cities.

Speaking of Macdonald Park, the eastern authority stated it was one of the largest and best he had seen on his entire tour.

BOWLERS MAKE SEASON PLANS

R. H. Lyons Heads Arcade Group; Commercial Teams Lining Up at Olympic

Arrangements for bowlers during the coming season moved further ahead yesterday as members of the Arcade Senior and the Commercial Tenpin Bowling Leagues made plans for their play at the Arcade Alleys and the commercial section of the Olympic stadium prepared for a meeting Monday.

R. H. Lyons yesterday evening was elected president of the Arcade Senior and Commercial Tenpin loops which operate at the Arcade Alleys. F. Walker was selected vice-president and Francis Anderson, secretary-treasurer. The position of honorary president and honorary vice-president were filled by Horace Beer and J. R. Macdonald. Entries for both leagues will close September 24.

Clubs entered to date and the leagues in which they are entered are: Arcade Senior Tenpin League—Colonial, Poodle Dog Cafe, McDonald Construction and I.X.L. Commercial Tenpin League—Slades, V.M.D., Victoria Ice Company and McDonald Construction. Teams wishing to enter may leave their applications at the Arcade Alleys.

OLYMPIC ALLEYS

At the Olympic Alleys this year the Commercial division will be divided into three sections of eight teams each, rolling Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Filing of entries will take place at a meeting next Monday evening, when schedules will also be arranged.

Teams already signed up are North-western, Hustlers, Scott & Feder, Kents, Imperial Oil, Times, McDonald Consolidated, A. P. Slade, Johnson-Wilfert, Home Oil, Victoria Shoe, and Modern Shoe.

Particulars may be obtained from Olympic Recreations, by telephoning empire 8611.

Straightens Out Age Regulations

Regulations regarding the age limit for junior soccer players, set recently by the Dominion Football Association at twenty-one, will not go into effect until next year, it was announced today by Fred Oliver, president of the local junior association. His announcement was made to check a movement of players from junior teams to other leagues caused by a misunderstanding regarding the date on which the new regulations will become effective.

Dempsey Will Promote Again

New York, Sept. 13.—A new sports promotion firm with Jack Dempsey, the old maestro of the ring, as the front man was under process of formation yesterday. Ray Fabiani of Philadelphia is the second part. "The new arrangement won't interfere with my refereeing around the country," Dempsey said. "Fabiani will be in direct charge of our office in Philadelphia. Our first big show probably will be a heavyweight championship fight in the Sequel-centennial stadium in Philadelphia a year from now, that is if Max Baer still holds the title then."

MAX BAER IN AT VANCOUVER

Heavyweight Champion Referees Several Bouts; Sonny Jones Is Winner

Vancouver, Sept. 13.—Sonny Jones, 135, Vancouver negro, won a six-round decision over Roy Ockley, 140, Portland, in the main event of yesterday evening's card in which Max Baer, world heavyweight boxing champion, making his first appearance here, refereed several bouts.

Jones had the Portland lad on the verge of a knockout in the sixth. Bobby Lassie, Hollywood, substituting for Red Hagerty, Tacoma, in the semi-final bout against Harry Peterson, Vancouver, lost by the knockout route in the fourth round of a scheduled six-rounder.

Buddy Baer, brother of the champion, and Leo Vander Ree, Vancouver, staged an exhibition no decision bout.

ROSS RESUMES HIS WORKOUTS

Displays Plenty of Speed After Two-day Lay-off; McLarnin Active

New York, Sept. 13.—Barney Ross yesterday resumed training for his fifteen-round writer-weight title defence against Jimmy McLarnin, in Madison Square Garden Bowl, Saturday night, after a two-day lay-off because of the Jewish holidays.

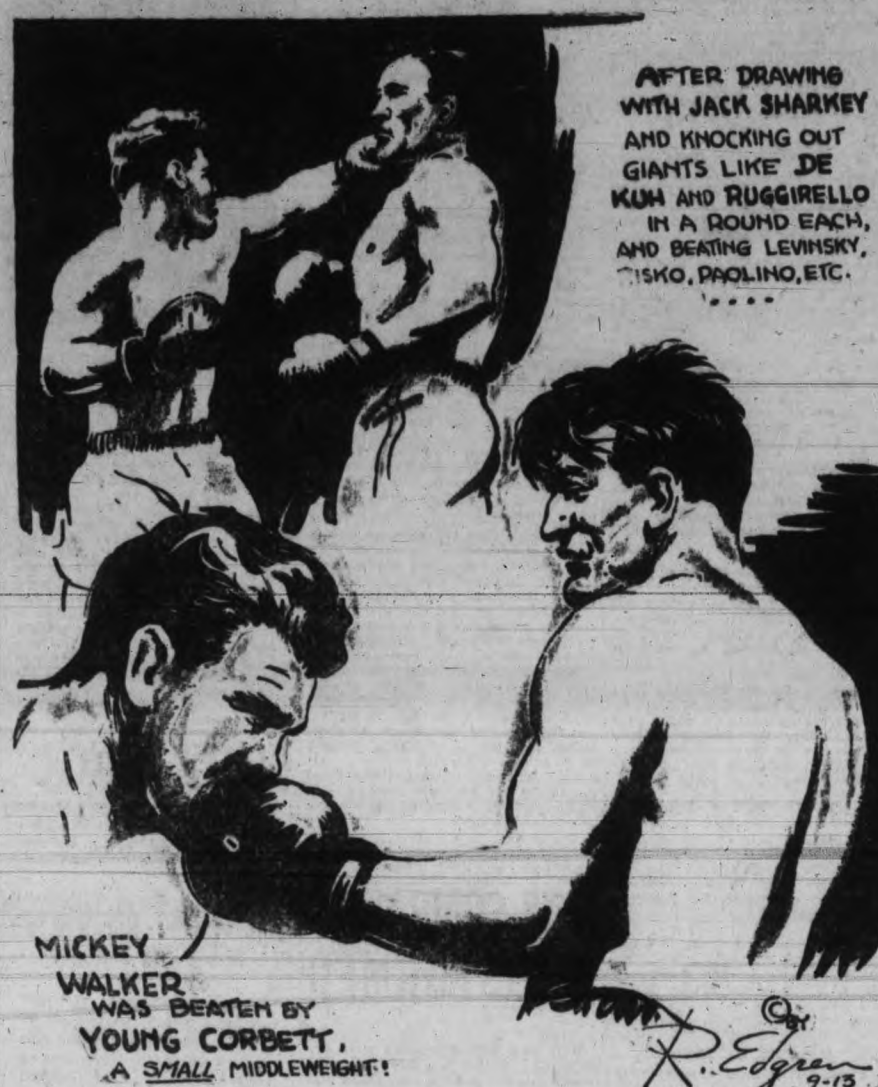

The Chicago youngster dispelled any doubts as to his condition by stepping four fast rounds with two sparring partners, doing three rounds of exercises and then stepping on the scales to show his weight as 139½ pounds, 1½ pounds under the official weigh-in.

McLarnin continued his brief training programme with an early morning three-mile run in Central Park and four fast rounds against Calvin Reed, his speedy negro sparring mate. The pride of the Irish weighed 147 pounds after his work, showing he was holding his weight right where he wanted it. He weighed in at 145½ last Thursday.

World Series Opens Oct. 3

Chicago, Sept. 13.—The world series of 1934 will open in the park of the American League pennant winner Wednesday, October 3. This was decided today at a meeting presided over by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball.

New McKechnie Cup Play Arrangements Required

Victoria will play intercity McKechnie Cup rugby again this year if gates from games in that series are divided on a three-to-one basis, with the larger share going to the home team. Only by that means will it be able to meet the financial strain caused by the trips between the city and the mainland. It was announced at Tuesday's meeting of the local union. A resolution to that effect will be taken to Vancouver by A. H. Cox and Fred Cabell, representatives of the Victoria group, for the provincial body's meeting next Tuesday evening. The union also set October 13 as the opening date for the Victoria season. Macdonald Park will be used this season with each of the two pitches in the enclosure being utilized alternate weeks. That course will be taken to save the turf.

PERRY WANTS THIRD TITLE

British Star Will Return to U.S. Next Year For Tennis Championship

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The United States singles tennis championships are over and it may rain all it wants to at Forest Hills without worrying any one, for Fred Perry has gone for another year and with him the United States title.

The unfortunate part, for the domestic players, is the fairly definite fact Perry will be back next year to satisfy his ambitions for three United States singles championships in a row, beating the record for invaders of two straight, held by Rene La Coste, France, and tried by Perry yesterday by his five-set triumph over Wilmer Allison.

Perry wants permanent possession of the big silver vase that goes with winning the trophy three times, which no invader has ever accomplished. Perry breezed through the first two sets on the usual rain-drenched turf, lifting his game only occasionally to the heights which it can reach. It looked very much as though to make things interesting for the crowd, he gave Allison every opportunity to win the third and fourth sets, which Allison did. Then Perry had to fight all the way to win the deciding set.

Hubbell Hero As Giants Win Game

Pitches and Bats National League Leaders to Victory Over Pittsburgh Pirates; New Yorkers and St. Louis Open Important Series; Detroit Beaten

The New York Giants to-day faced another highly important series in the battle for their second straight National Baseball League pennant, a four-game struggle with the second place St. Louis Cardinals, and they hoped it would be the last time they had to bear down to the utmost until the time comes to do it before the flag-decked world series stands.

With a margin of five and one-half games to start the fray as the result of New York's 3 to 2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday while the Cards suffered a 3 to 1 setback in Philadelphia, they required twelve victories out of their remaining sixteen games to clinch the flag.

It was Carl Hubbell, almost single handed, who brought New York yesterday's triumph and removed Pittsburgh's last mathematical chance of tying for the flag. He not only limited the Blues to six hits in a duel with Ralph Birkofer, but made two telling hits.

Trailing 2 to 0 in the sixth after being nicked for three blows in the fifth, Hubbell singled to start a rally that tied the score when Joe Moore followed with a base hit, Terry walked and Hank Leiber smacked a single. In the next inning Carl drove in Blondy Ryan who had doubled, with the winning tally.

The third place Chicago Cubs kept pace seven games behind the Giants with a 5 to 2 triumph over the Boston Braves behind Lonnie Warneke, who gave seven hits in winning his twenty-first game of the season.

The Detroit Tigers saw their American League lead cut to three and one-half games over the New York Yankees when Red Wagner held them scoreless to give the Boston Red Sox a 1 to 0 triumph in a pitchers' battle.

Another mound duel saw the Cleveland Indians take a 3 to 2 decision from the Philadelphia Athletics by piling up an early lead that survived the efforts of Johnny Marcano's pinch homer in the seventh. The other American League clubs had an open date.

The remaining National League game gave the Brooklyn Dodgers an 8 to 7 decision over the Cincinnati Reds in a ten-inning scrap.

CUE LEADERS ARE RETURNED

City Billiard League Officers Re-elected; D. Crowther, President

The state of last year's officers handling the affairs of the City Billiard League was returned intact by delegates attending that body's annual meeting in the Elks Club yesterday evening.

Final date for filing of entries will be September 21, it was decided. On that evening the league will hold another meeting.

Clubs represented at yesterday evening's meeting were Pro Patria Branch, Britannia Branch, Elks Club, Island Club, Army and Navy Veterans and the Tillamook Athletic Club. Organizations wishing to enter the league are asked to communicate with Dave Croston, league secretary, at the Elks Club.

The officers of the league are: President, D. Crowther; vice-president, P. C. Payne, and secretary-treasurer, Dave Croston.

TORONTO NOW TWO GAMES UP

Take Second Straight Game From Newark in Minor Baseball Play-off

Newark, N. J., Sept. 13.—Two games down to the third-place Toronto Leafs in their inter-national baseball league playoff series, Newark's champion Braves appeared headed for the same fate that overtook them last year as they moved on to the Canadian city for the third encounter to-day.

A year ago they finished far ahead during the regular season only to be eliminated in the first playoff round. Playing the next three games on their home grounds, the Maple Leafs needed only two more victories to take the series and go into the final round against the winner of the Rochester-Albany duel.

After winning the opener 3 to 2 in twelve innings Tuesday, the Leafs came back yesterday evening to take advantage of the unsteadiness of young Vito Tumula at the first and win 2 to 1.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Delayed a day because of rain, Rochester Red Wings and Albany Senators resumed their inter-league playoff series to-day with the Wings one game in front.

Man Mountain Dean Defeats Cantonwine

Los Angeles, Sept. 13.—Howard Cantonwine, the Davenport, Iowa, heavyweight grappler, found some things are not fair even in wrestling as he lost two straight falls to Man Mountain Dean, the 317-pound Georgian with the flowing, black beard, here yesterday evening. Cantonwine weighed 310.

Cantonwine, after slugging Dean for awhile, wrapped the ropes around the giant's neck and choked him until the referee awarded Dean the fall and sent for a doctor to revive him. Dean took the second fall with a backward body slam.

POLO POSTPONED

New York, Sept. 13.—The first match of the east-west polo series, scheduled for yesterday, was postponed until Saturday. Rain soaked the turf Tuesday and a committee decided the field would not be safe for play before Saturday.

Victoria Eleven Just Gains Draw

Local Cricketers Squeeze Through With One Wicket Remaining in Match With Touring Eastern Canada Players; Visitors Score 291 For Seven Wickets Declared

A valiant last wicket stand by Jack Payne, which just carried Victoria's innings to closing time for a draw, saved the local squad from defeat in yesterday's exhibition cricket fixture against the touring eastern Canadian squad at Macdonald Park. The match was played with but one adjournment for rain in the afternoon and was marred by the bitterly cold weather and the rain-soaked pitch.

Continuing batting after lunch the visitors lost one wicket, their seventh, before Davies and McLean raised the score from 177 to 291 and retired not out with individual scores of 71, high for the day, and 50 respectively.

They left the field at 3.30 o'clock, leaving the Victorians little over two hours to match their total, an inadequate time in view of the condition of the pitch. The locals, however, carried on for a total of 108 with one wicket standing when the last ball was bowled.

Seagram and McLean went in to continue their batting following the lunch interval, when the score stood at 167. Seagram lasted two overs and was finally bowled by George Payne with an individual total of 42. His wicket, the seventh, fell for 177.

Davies joined McLean and the pair put up a fine partnership stand to boost the total up to the 291 at which they were dismissed. The slippery pitch made fielding difficult as the defenders floundered around, unable to get stable footing. The greasy ball was unmanageable in the bowler's hands.

Wenman and Quantin opened the batting for Victoria with Rutherford and Loney, iron men of the visiting side, looking after the bowling duties. After feeling out the bowling, Quantin let loose on a good batting attack scoring a boundary four through the slips. The pair continued, hitting well and a brilliant run peeped through the clouds for a few minutes.

In the first half hour they had put up forty, Wenman having broken two bats and Quantin one.

FIRST WICKET DOWN

Victoria's first wicket fell for fifty-nine when Quantin lifted a short high catch to Loney, who took it one-handed as he ran up the pitch from his own delivery. The Victorians had carried his bat for an individual 35.

Carlton replaced Rutherford at the other end as Darcus came in following Quantin's dismissal. Darcus just seemed to be getting into his stride when he moved forward for a shot and was stopped by the visiting wicketkeeper. He had scored seven runs and the Victoria total stood at 71.

Gibbons came in to partner Wenman and the pair hit out for thirteen more runs before Loney took Wenman's middle stump with a shooter and the third wicket was down for 84.

George Payne was bowled for a duck after Gibbons had gained one more run.

PARADE STARTS

Then the parade started. Ciddy Coward, wearing an impressive uniform, marched to the wicket and marched back again, clean bowled by Carlton. Gibbons had retired leg-before-wicket from one of Loney's deliveries with the score at 89. The sixth wicket had fallen in an hour and one-half, and thirty minutes remained to get a draw.

Jack Payne went in and was joined by Jack Bryden. Bryden tried to squeeze through on a short hit and was run out. Seven wickets had fallen for ninety-five with sixteen minutes to play.

Griffin joined Payne and the latter hit up the run, which put 100 on the board. Griffin was also bowled for a duck by Loney, with the total at 101 and Victoria's chances of gaining a draw seemed to dwindle.

Eight minutes from time Percy Payne went in and came out scoreless. Loney's third ball rooting his stump.

Edwards went to bat with nine wickets down and stonewalled the last ball of the over to him. Jack Payne held up in the final over, scoring a two on the first to last ball and stopping the final delivery to gain the draw.

DOG SHOW IS FAIR FEATURE

Over 140 Canines Seek Honors in Victoria City Kennel Club Event

The dog show being held at the Willows Exhibition, under the auspices of the Victoria City Kennel Club, was officially opened yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Mayor Leeming. From 11 o'clock in the morning until late yesterday evening, Kyle Onstott, famous Californian dog authority, judged non-sporting, sporting and working dogs.

The mayor in his address welcomed all visiting competitors. The Victoria City Kennel Club had been an active organization for almost half a century, and Victoria could be justly proud of her dogs. Mayor Leeming stated. The Mayor was introduced to the audience by J. MacFarlane, president of the Kennel Club.

With over 140 dogs, the show is one of the finest put on by the club. Entries have come from as far away as Milwaukee, Wisconsin, while several competitors from California, Oregon, Washington, and mainland points are after honors. The Rock Haven Kennels in Vancouver have the largest entry in one class. They have seven Gordon retrievers competing.

One of the American entries displayed a brilliant banner over its cage with the inscription, "Grand Champion, Nagoya, Japan."

Wheat Prices Close Fractionally Higher

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Sept. 13.—Snow, sleet and rain across western Canada's prairies today halted threshing operations and imparted strength to wheat futures prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The weather factor helped offset hedging pressure and quotations closed $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ cent higher.

All closing figures were near the day's high with October at 84 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 85 $\frac{1}{2}$ and May at 88 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 89 $\frac{1}{2}$.

In the late stages steadiness became more pronounced and prices stepped up a maximum of nearly one cent in the nearby position. Hedging pressure was fairly heavy but the market absorbed all offerings. Suspension of harvesting operations in western Canada due to wet weather aided strength.

Liverpool wheat closed $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ cent lower and Chicago was about firm.

Cash grains were dull and coarse grains steady.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Uncertainties resulting from the textile strike did much to make grain values weak most of the time today, but with rallies at the last. Considerable attention was given to bearish effects of imports of foreign grain into the United States.

Wheat closed irregular, $\frac{1}{4}$ lower to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher, corn $\frac{1}{4}$ to one cent down, oats $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ cent down and provisions unchanged to a rise of twenty cents.

Mr. And Mrs.

I CAN NEVER LEAVE THIS HOUSE ALONE WITH YOU, THAT'S CERTAIN. YOU DIDN'T CLOSE THE WINDOWS DURING THAT SHOWER.

AW, THE RAIN WAS COMING THE OTHER WAY.

AND YOU NEVER PUT THE EMPTY MILK BOTTLES OUT, AS I ASKED YOU.

GOSH, THE MILKMAN IS IN NO HURRY FOR 'EM. HE HAS PLENTY.

AND I ASKED YOU, TWO DAYS AGO, TO PUT A NEW BULB IN THIS LAMP. I WAS SITTING IN THE OTHER CHAIR. I FORGOT.

AND YOU THREW AWAY YESTERDAY'S NEWSPAPERS! THERE WAS SOMETHING I ESPECIALLY WANTED TO READ! GEE, NO WONDER THE INSANE ASYLUMS ARE FULL OF MEN.

Bringing Up Father

WELL, I GUESS MAGGIE'S GONNA FALL IN LINE WITH MY SCHEME AN' ECONOMIZE. SHE JUST TOLD ME SHE WUZ GONNA COOK THE DINNER HERSELF.

THERE SHE IS NOW, PHONIN' TO THE GROCER. I WONDER WHAT WE'RE GONNA HAVE? I'LL LISTEN TO HER ORDER.

YES, GROCER, I WANT A CAN OF TOMATOES, A CAN OF PEAS, A CAN OF SPAGHETTI, A CAN OF SARDINES, A CAN OF SLICED PEPPERS, AND A JAR OF PICKLES.

THAT'S GONNA BE A FINE DINNER. I WISH IT WUZ LIKE THE OLD DAYS WHEN I USED TO EAT OUT OF ME OLD DINNER PAIL.

Boots And Her Buddies

HMM, NOW, I WONDER WHAT THAT YOUNG LADY IS UP TO? IT MUST BE IMPORTANT, TO GET HER UP AT THIS TIME OF DAY.

TAXI.

T'N OWAYO STUDIOS - N' MAKE IT SNAPPY.

GEE, I HOPE I GET THERE BEFORE RONNIE DOES! FROM T'N WAY HIS DIRECTOR, OR WHOEVER HE WAS, TALKED - I DOUBT IF THEY'D EVEN LET 'IM IN T'N PLACE.

Alley Oop

AIN'T THIS T'N BERRIES!! JUS' WHEN WE FINALLY GOT OUR LIL WOOTIE, ALL SET T' HAVE A GOOD HUSBAND - BLOOOIE - ALONG COMES A TWISTER AN' BLOWS 'IM AWAY!

OH-MY POOOOR ALLEY. PAPA, DO YOU THINK WE'LL EVER SEE MY ALLEY, AGAIN? AW - I GOTTA HUNCH HE'LL TURN UP - SAY, GY, THAT MONSTROSITY OOTA MY SIGHT!

YEEOW!

GIT OUTA HERE AN' STAY OUT!

Ella Cinders

SKIPPER, I THINK BRANNIGAN WAS LEFT ASHORE PURPOSELY! I DON'T KNOW WHAT'S UP, BUT IF CAPTAIN HULL KNOWS THAT TWO MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF PEARLS ARE DANGLING UNDER HIS NOSE HE'LL GET IDEAS!

I'LL HAVE A TALK WITH HIM! I REALLY THOUGHT HULL WAS A MAN I COULD TRUST!

HE'S AS TRUST-WORTHY AS A BUSTED COMPASS, AND YOU CAN LAY TO THAT!

IF BRANNIGAN WANTS TO DIVE NOSE FIRST INTO A GLASS OF GROG, IT AIN'T OF MY DOING! AND YOU KNOW SAILORS WHEN THEY GET LAND UNDER THEIR FEET!

Mutt And Jeff

M-M-M-I SMELL CORN ON THE COB!

YES - THE HIRED MEN ARE HAVING THEIR ANNUAL CORN FEAST. THEY SEE WHICH ONE CAN EAT THE MOST CORN!

WHO'S IN THE LEAD, BOYS?

HOW MANY CAN EAT, JERRY!

FOURTEEN!

YA BETTER START STUFFIN' 'EM IN YOUR EARS!

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THE BIG GENT? HE'S EATING FAST!

YEH! HE'S HAVING A TOUGH TIME WITH THAT ONE EAR!

NO! A TOUGH TIME WITH THIS ONE TOOTH!

The Gumps

THE SUPPORTING CAST STARTS ITS REHEARSAL TODAY. THE STAR IS BUSY POLISHING HER LINES AND PRACTICING HER ENTRANCES - SO THIS MORNING ATTORNEY WILLIAMS, DIRECTOR OF THE LITTLE MELODRAMA, TO OPEN NEXT MONDAY, GOES OVER THE CASE WITH MAMA DE STARRA.

AND YOU THINK I OUGHT TO WEAR A VEIL TOO, THEN?

BY ALL MEANS - AND STAY AS CLOSE TO MILLIE AS POSSIBLE - KEEP YOUR ARM ABOUT HER - REMEMBER, SHE IS THE POOR, DISILLUSIONED, BROKEN-HEARTED CHILD WHOSE LIFE HAS BEEN BLIGHTED - AND YOU ARE HER ONLY SUPPORT AND COMFORT IN A CRUEL WICKED WORLD.

IT WON'T TAKE ANY ACTING ON MY PART - ATTORNEY WILLIAMS - YOU KNOW AS WELL AS I THAT MY ONLY HOPE IN THIS CASE IS TO SEE MILLIE VINDICATED - THE MONEY MATTERS SO LITTLE TO US NOW.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX - I am wondering whether to marry or not. I am twenty-six and have a job, but dislike my work and long for a home. I think it would be a cinch to be a housewife. The man I am considering has no education, but by pinching the pennies has accumulated a fortune. He offers security and he would be good to me even if he is close with himself. But the way he makes love makes me want to scream and he is personally repulsive to me and he has halitosis. My mother says I would soon learn to love him and that all men are alike when once you are married to one and all the older people say I am foolish to let this opportunity slip by. What happens to girls when they sell themselves for a mess of pottage? ANNE.

Answer: Most of them get divorces or else they drag along through dreary years regretting their bargain.

For nothing makes marriage worth while except love. There's no happiness in it except spending the long years of your life with somebody who is congenial and companionable and in whose society you find a never-ending joy. No fate in the world can be harder than that of the woman who is forced to live in the close intimacy of marriage with a man whose touch makes her shudder instead of thrill, whose kisses sicken her, whose society bores her to tears and who finds marriage nothing but a dreary round of duties.

I do not think that any money on earth could pay a girl for selling herself into this sort of slavery, not even if she got a husband who could cover her with jewels and give her a palace to live in and buy all the finery in the Rue de la Paix for her to adorn herself in. And most of the girls who marry for their money don't even fetch this sort of price. The most they get, as a general thing, is no more than they could earn for themselves if they would work as hard at their jobs as they have to do in catering to their husbands. And they wouldn't have to put up with their bosses after office hours, either.

Every marriage calls for sacrifices, particularly from the wife. It calls for adjustments that the wife must make for the times that require patience and forbearance and the overlooking and forgiving of many faults and eccentricities of the husband. No man is easy to live with, but when a woman loves her husband it takes the sting out of the sacrifices she must make and blinds her to his faults. But this does not happen if she does not love him.

Then she resents everything she has to do for him and his every weakness becomes an intolerable offense against her. Then the marriage bond cuts in her very soul and makes a wound that festers until it poisons her whole life. It is our attitude toward marriage that makes it tolerable or intolerable, heaven or hell.

Your mother's optimistic belief that you will fall in love with your husband after marriage is not justified by experience. A woman who marries without love seldom falls in love afterward with her husband because if he did not have the charms that could win her before marriage, he still less has them after marriage. For men put their best foot foremost when they are courting.

The clashes of tastes and habits and ways of looking at things that are bound to occur after marriage, the friction that arises over the woman's dependence on the man, the fights over money, the arguments over every detail of daily life are not calculated to draw husbands and wives together. Rather do these things separate them and make the man who seemed a Fairy Prince before marriage appear a petty tyrant or a lightwad after marriage and cause the woman who seemed an angel to look a nagger and a virago.

Of course, every girl wants a home of her own, but she can buy it at too high a price, and she does pay more than it is worth when she sells herself for it. Moreover, she makes a doubly bad bargain because when she marries, a man she doesn't love for a home she throws away her chance that she always on the card of getting both a husband she loves and a home.

And that is too good a bet to overlook.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX - On my sixteenth birthday I was given a car, for which I had been crazy for two or three years. I have not been getting good marks in school, due to my slow wit in catching on to things, and my father told me that if I failed in one subject he would take the car away from me. This semester I have worked as I never have before so as to be able to keep what I so yearn for. Nevertheless, I have failed in one of my five subjects. Therefore, the car has been taken away from me. I do not think it possible to convert myself into a human dynamo. I know that it is not asking much for my father to expect me to pass in all my subjects, but I think I should be given a little time. It is like teasing a hungry dog with one bite of bread when he is starving for more. I would appreciate it if you would give me your views on the subject. HENRY.

Answer: Well, Henry, you must look at your father's side of the subject as well as your own. He gave you the car on certain conditions that you have not fulfilled. You have not done your part in making good.

He gave you the car to stimulate your ambition by giving you a concrete object to work for, and in taking the car away from you he is trying to make you realize that if you fail to get the things we desire, we have to sacrifice for them, and that if we are not willing to make the effort we can't have the good things we crave. So perhaps he is doing a wise thing, and a thing you will thank him for later on, in making your having the car the result of your efforts.

But I think that he is, perhaps, not quite so understanding as he should be, nor so patient, and that he may be expecting a little too much of you. If you really have studied hard, you might give you credit for your good intentions and not judge you so much by what you have done as by what you have honestly tried to do.

Not all youngsters have the same ability to learn easily; not all are brilliant students, but the slow plodders very often are the ones who retain what they have learned and who make the most successful men.

So my suggestion is that you and your father effect a compromise. Convince him that you are doing your level best to get good marks at school and let him take the will for the deed and let you have your car now and then. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX - A few years ago I was quite prosperous. I resigned a lucrative position to take up a business that failed and now I have been brought to poverty. I have a daughter who is comfortably married and has considerable earnings aside from her husband's salary. I spent many thousands of dollars on my daughter's musical education, out of which she now makes a good income. She has a car, a fine home and enjoys all that is best in life, whereas I am going about almost in rags, unable to make a living. In your opinion, should this daughter assist me at this time out of her separate earnings? R. J. B.

Answer: I not only think it is her duty, but that she should regard it a privilege that she should be able to repay some of your kindness to her, and she is an ingrate and lacking in all natural feeling if she does not do so. DOROTHY DIX.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1934

Astrologers read this as rather an important day in planetary government. In building and repairing contracts, delays may be met, but should be easily overcome.

Again astrologers foretell many sudden deaths among prominent men and women. Leaders in business, politics and journalism will end careers when apparently they are most needed.

More labor troubles are foretold, but they may be trifling in their first outbreaks. Despite obstacles in the way of advancement, business enterprises should prosper. In building and repairing contracts, delays may be met, but should be easily overcome.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of advancement, but numerous annoyances are indicated. Women should be careful in managing their homes.

Children born on this day probably will be artists in their tastes, industrious and talented. Subjects of this sign usually succeed.

Baron von Humboldt, naturalist and traveler, was born on this day, 1769. Will

Irwin, writer, 1872, also celebrated it as a birthday. (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

DISEASES SPREAD AMONG ESKIMOS

Associated Press
Seattle, Sept. 12. - A dire picture of diseases among the Eskimos was reported yesterday by Dr. Victor E. Levine, a professor at Greighton University, Omaha, after a summer's medical research work in the Far North.

The average life span of the Eskimo, he said, was decreased to about twenty years.

Of groups of Eskimo children examined for tuberculosis, 97.5 per cent of them gave positive evidence of the disease.

Dr. Levine and his assistant, Prof. C. W. Bauer, spent much of their time with Eskimo children, he said.

CHARLES DIXON DIES
Chichester, Sussex, Eng., Sept. 12. - Charles DIXON, sixty-two, widely-known marine artist, died yesterday.
